

M'FARLAND BATTLES IN RING WITH MURPHY

AUTO RACE WON BY BROWN

Eddie Hearne Is Second and Ralph de Palma Third in Speedy Contest

Average Speed of Winner Over Course Is 75.45 Miles an Hour

RACE COURSE, SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 23.—David Bruce-Brown, the 24-year-old millionaire, won today his second Grand Prize race.

This year he scored his victory in an Italian Fiat car, defeating Eddie Hearne, another young millionaire, driving a German Benz, in which Bruce-Brown won of 1911's race.

Hearne finished less than a minute behind Bruce-Brown. Ralph de Palma finished third in his French Mercedes car. Ralph Mulford, here of the Vanderbilt cup race, was a contender up to the last two laps, when he had engine trouble which put him out of the race.

The winner's time was 23:23.13; Hearne's time was 23:35.07; de Palma's time was 23:40.50. The average speed of today's race was 75.45 miles against 70.55 in last year's Grand Prize race.

GREETED BY HIS MOTHER.

When Bruce-Brown rode back to the grandstand in triumph in his beautiful red Fiat car his mother was the first to greet him. She threw her arms about his neck and the crowd cheered.

Mulford did not finish. It was announced that he had been forced to retire through the breaking of a driving shaft of his car.

Bruce-Brown captured the Grand Prize trophy in 1911, covering the 411.3 miles in 2:05:07.5. His first race was in 1907. The 15 cars entered in the event started at intervals of 30 seconds. The entries were as follows:

- 1st. Louis Wagner
- 2nd. Harry Cobe
- 3rd. Charles E. B. Abbott
- 4th. I. A. Mitchell
- 5th. Ralph Mulford
- 6th. E. M. Ruman
- 7th. Eddie Hearne
- 8th. David Bruce-Brown
- 9th. Harry Cobe
- 10th. Charles E. B. Abbott
- 11th. I. A. Mitchell
- 12th. Ralph Mulford
- 13th. E. M. Ruman
- 14th. Eddie Hearne
- 15th. David Bruce-Brown

Thousands of persons left comfortable seats at an early hour today to see the start of the race. The surface of the ground became frozen over night, rendering the course much faster and safer than had been expected.

Although the day was bitter cold the sun shone brightly. Starter Fred Wagner sent the Grand Prize racers off promptly. The crowd gave each driver a rousing cheer as they got under way at 30-second intervals, beginning at 9 o'clock. Ralph Mulford, winner of Vanderbilt Cup, received a great ovation.

TIME IS FAST.

Some fast time was made on the first lap. Bruce made it in 13:01, 13 seconds faster than the fastest lap in the Vanderbilt. Bruce-Brown made it in 13:07.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC RUNS FIRST ELECTRIC TRAIN FROM MOLE ALONG SEVENTH STREET

Officials of the Road Inspect System

With a large number of railroad officials and members of the Seventh Street Improvement club aboard, the first electric train was run over Seventh street, from the Southern Pacific mole to the Melrose station this morning. Leaving the mole at 11:05 o'clock, the trip was made over the route in 27 minutes, a little more than what the regular running time will be when the regular schedule goes into force tomorrow.

The populace of Seventh street turned out in full force to wave hands and shout welcome to the forerunner of the new service and from the windows of the coaches passengers waved back flags in returning the salute. Old and young alike expressed their gratification in what will practically mean a new era in the business welfare along that thoroughfare.

TEST RUN A SUCCESS.

In every way the test run was considered a success by the officials of the company and the engineers who have had charge of the construction. The train was in charge of Conductor R. L. Gannon, who has been in the employ of the Southern Pacific for the last thirty-two years, and Motorman Adams. There were five coaches in the make-up of the train, including two motor cars.

Among the officials present were General Superintendent J. M. Davis, Assistant General Manager W. R. Scott, C. T. Richardson, Superintendent of Transportation, and W. A. Whitney, Superintendent at the Oakland mole; W. E. Critzer, chief clerk maintenance of way; F. W. Hoover, "industrial agent"; H. P. Breckenford, chief clerk to general superintendent; W. H. Deaver, auditor of equipment; C. H. Reddington, assistant treasurer; F. G. Atheren and Edgar Reinhardt of the bureau of economics; A. W. Baker, real estate and tax agent.

McM. Corbin represented the General Electric Company, which furnished the electrical equipment. Among the members of the Seventh Street organization on the train were: Roy, E. P. Dempsey, J. J. McElroy, J. C. Downey, M. J. Kelly, J. J. McDonald and P. A. Cox.

TRAIN RUNS SMOOTHLY.

Without a hitch of any kind, the train moved smoothly over the newly laid tracks, while the mechanical equipment responded readily to every move of the controlling levers. The motors, which are each of 500 horsepower, are arranged in the multiple unit system, distributing the power evenly throughout the length of a train and greatly increasing its accelerative efficiency. The cars are all of an improved type, entirely of steel construction and sanitary in every particular. Above each seat is fixed an incandescent light while the ceilings are tinted in light colors, considerably increasing the illumination of the interiors. The equipment in rolling stock for the local system consists of 125 cars, including motors and coaches.

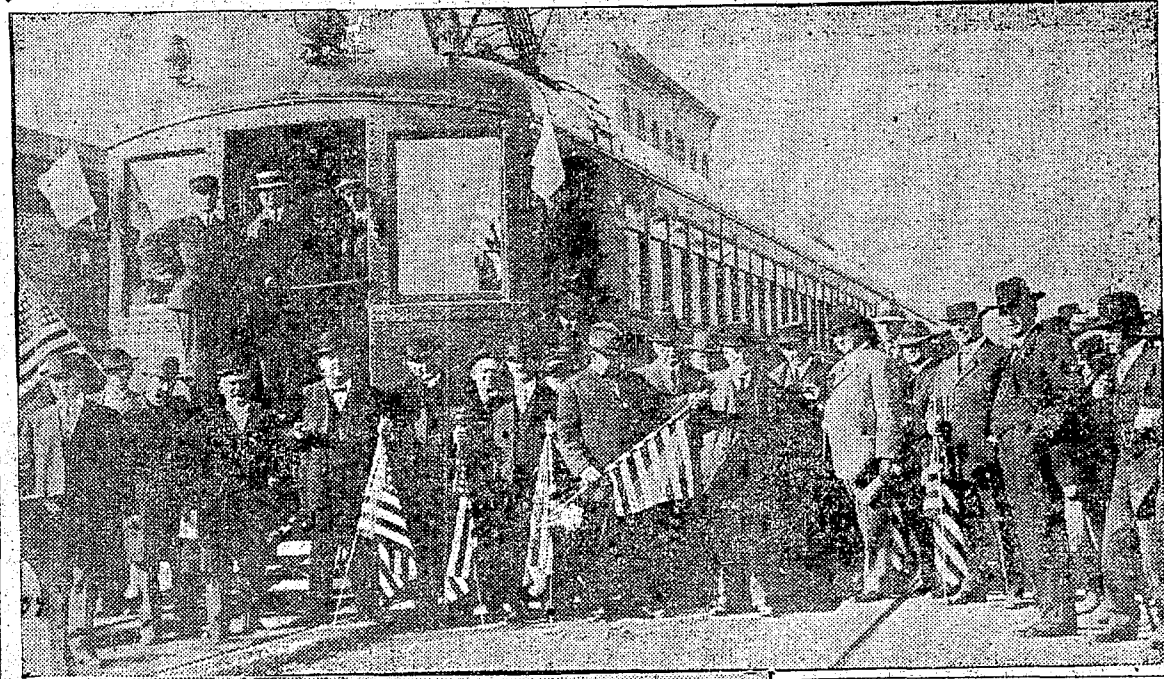

Commencing tomorrow the electric trains will alternate with the steam trains with two of each in operation on the Seventh street line. The schedule will continue in that manner for a few days until the crews become more familiar with the handling of the new equipment, after which time the old locomotives, which have been the motive power on the line for the last forty years, will be no longer used in the local passenger service in Oakland.

NO PARTING TEARS.

Their passing is the cause of mutual content both on the part of the railroad officials and with the traveling public. The people along Seventh street and who own property there are also gratified with the new conditions. The change speaks for a cleaner thoroughfare and a more popular venue of traffic between the up-town district and West Oakland. The

Farmer Shoots at Rabbit; Wounds 6 Young Women

MCLOUTH, Kan., Nov. 30.—While hunting rabbits on his farm near here, John Kleinm accidentally shot six young women who were standing on the front porch of his home. A rabbit ran around the house and Clemm fired at it with a shotgun. He missed the rabbit, but the shot struck the women, all of whom were wounded in the lower limbs.

Another Dollar Added To Fund for Family

Another dollar has been added to the fund which has gone to make Thanksgiving a true day of thankfulness for the mother of four children, who appealed to the people of Oakland through the pages of THE TRIBUNE on last Monday for at least sufficient aid to give her children some sort of a dinner today. The latest note for the widow was brought in to THE TRIBUNE offices this morning by a man who refused to give his name, and will be added to the $45.50 which has already preceded it into the purse of the woman.

Champion Stuffer To Wreck the Feast

Fifteen Pounds of Turkey, Etc., Ad Infinitum, to Be His Meal.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Nov. 30.—Charles W. Glidden of this city, who calls himself the champion eater of New England, believes that his Thanksgiving menu today will stand as the biggest individual effort of the kind in the United States. It is as follows:

Fifteen pounds of turkey or chicken, two loaves of bread, three-quarts of tea, six bananas and cream, 12 doughnuts, one bunch celery, 10 potatoes, one-half pound butter, one order squash, two quarts cranberry sauce, one mince pie.

Woman Hurlled From Moving Street Car

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Hurlled from a moving car in the neighborhood of Sixteenth and Dolores streets, early this morning, Mrs. Frances L. Earle of 649 Filmore street, was dazed and wandered for a considerable distance before she was found and removed to the Central Emergency Hospital. The ambulance was summoned to 420 Dolores street, where it was learned that Mrs. Earle had either fallen or been thrown from the car a short time before. She suffered a wound of the scalp and a possible fracture of the skull.

RANDALL BILL BEFORE THE ASSEMBLY

Country Members of the House, It Is Believed, Will Back Measure

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 30.—The much-talked-of Randall legislative reapportionment bill, modified slightly to meet the demands of the country members, was introduced in the Assembly today and immediately afterward that body adjourned until Friday afternoon. The Senate was not in session, having adjourned yesterday until Friday afternoon.

COUNTRY MEMBERS FAVOR IT.

The Randall bill, which, it is understood, will be given the support of the country members who organized early in the week and signed up to counterbalance no reapportionment measure which gave the city districts representation of more than 17 Senators and 34 Assemblymen, probably will be the measure about which the reapportionment fight in the Lower House will be waged. Randall originally allowed but 33 Assemblymen to the cities, but by allowing his bill to give Alameda county eight instead of seven Assemblymen made it fit the requirements of the rural membership.

PROPOSED APPORTIONMENT.

Randall would give San Francisco county a legislative representation of six Senators and 12 Assemblymen, Los Angeles county 7 Senators and 14 Assemblymen, Alameda 4 Senators and 8 Assemblymen. The country representation is provided for on a population of territorial basis, which divides the remainder of the state into equal districts.

Opposition to the Randall plan is expected to come up with the introduction of the Thompson reapportionment measure in the Senate. This favors the congested districts to a greater extent than does the Randall measure, according to frequently published accounts of its provisions.

It is possible, however, that Thompson will feel it necessary to recast his bill in some measure in view of the declaration of war by the rural Assemblymen against the city bill.

SEEK THANKSGIVING FEASTS.

With the adjournment of the Assembly today the members scattered throughout this part of the state in search of Thanksgiving turkey and mince pie. Within a very short time after the brief session closed very few of them could be found about town. No committee meetings or conferences of importance were scheduled for today and the extraordinary session of the legislature marked time until the holiday was over.

BOTH MEN ARE WELL BELOW REQUIRED WEIGHT

Ideal Weather Conditions Call Out Big Crowd of Fans at Coffroth's Arena

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Packer then McFarland hooked sharply to the stomach with his right. A minute later Murphy missed a left swing and McFarland crossed him stiffly to the ear. Another clinch followed with no damage. As the round ended McFarland bled slightly from the back of the neck, a scratch being opened during one of the clinches. It was a round without feature.

SECOND ROUND.

McFARLAND A FAVORITE.

With the elimination of the Wolgast bout, owing to the champion's illness, the McFarland-Murphy bout forced itself into unexpected prominence. McFarland ruled a 10-to-4 favorite over the New York boxer.

Local-sporting authorities venture the assertion that Wolgast can't "come back." They figure that he will not be able to enter the ring for twelve months at least and then, despite his stamina and ability to assimilate punishment, the pugilistic prognosticators figure that he will not be the Wolgast of old. Therefore the winner of today's contest is looked upon as his logical successor.

BOTH ARE CONFIDENT.

Murphy, reckoned as one of the hardest lightweights in the game to beat, declared shortly before entering the ring that he expected to win within fifteen rounds.

McFarland, full of confidence, maintained that he would dispose of the New Yorker in easy fashion.

McFARLAND IS "FINE."

The articles for today's contest called for 135 pounds five hours before ring time. McFarland mounted the scales shortly before 10 o'clock. He failed to joggle the beam and it was remarked that he appeared to be down rather fine.

Murphy did not even weigh in. McFarland valued this, inasmuch as the New Yorker clearly was well under the required notch.

Summer weather conditions prevailed at the arena and many of the "gallery gods" shed their coats and even their vests.

There was little if any betting at the ringside. The prevailing odds were 10 to 3 with McFarland favorite and McFarland took the bet.

The first preliminary terminated in the first round when Joe Acheson sent Walter Kane of Chicago to the mat for the count with a left hook flush to the jaw. The last fought at the featherweight limit.

Al Rogers was given the decision over Willie Purcell after 10 rounds of one-sided milling. Rogers led from the start to finish. There were about 5000 persons in attendance when the second preliminary had been decided. There was no betting on the main event.

The main event was delayed while a collection was taken for the widows and children of the two policemen who lost their lives in this city last Sunday morning as a result of their attempt to arrest a criminal. Several thousand dollars was realized in a short time.

Referee Harry Foley called the men in the center of the ring and time was called at 2:59.

Jack Britton of Chicago, lightweight, jumped over the ropes and issued a personal challenge.

FIRST ROUND.

Murphy took the aggressive at once, but failed to connect with a volley of right and left. McFarland covering cleverly. A minute was wasted with some ineffectual fighting at close quarters and

Murphy's right eye was slightly closed as he came to the center of the ring. McFarland coolly felt his man out and blocking neatly forced his man against the ropes. The latter worked a right uppercut to the face. The Chicagoan, however, countered with a straight left to the face and followed this with two similar punches. The New Yorker, backing McFarland against the ropes, drove right into the stomach. McFarland then took command and forced his man back across the ring with a succession of left and right short-arm punches to the jaw. Murphy covered up, but the shifty stockyard fighter easily penetrated his guard, sending in a stinging punching to the face and head. The round was in favor of McFarland.

THIRD ROUND.

Murphy's right eye was slightly closed as he came to the center of the ring. McFarland coolly felt his man out and blocking neatly forced his man against the ropes. The latter worked a right uppercut to the face. The Chicagoan, however, countered with a straight left to the face and followed this with two similar punches. The New Yorker, backing McFarland against the ropes, drove right into the stomach. McFarland then took command and forced his man back across the ring with a succession of left and right short-arm punches to the jaw. Murphy covered up, but the shifty stockyard fighter easily penetrated his guard, sending in a stinging punching to the face and head. The round was in favor of McFarland.

FOURTH ROUND.

Murphy opened with a left to the nose, maddening McFarland for the moment. He then hooked with his right, but McFarland returned each punch with interest and they battled fiercely to the ropes. Murphy slipping to his knees. McFarland jabbed several times with light lefts to the face and then brought his right around to the jaw twice, a clinch ending the milling. Again they mixed it and Murphy brought blood from McFarland's nose with a straight left to that member. McFarland confined his attacks to the body and varied this with several terrific right uppercuts to the jaw, the last of which nearly felled the New York fighter. It was a viciously contested round with the honors in McFarland's favor.

FIFTH ROUND.

McFarland started out with a left hook to the stomach and quickly followed it with a right to the same place as they clinched. McFarland drove his man against the ropes and Murphy slipped to his haunches as the Chicagoan man laced out with a right that failed to connect. Murphy was up in an instant and was floored this time for the count of two with a short arm right to the jaw, delivered quick as a flash. Tommy looked a bit serious, but the fighting spirit in him was very much in evidence. Murphy was forced against the ropes and the round closed with McFarland shooting a volley of right and left short arm punches to the stomach. McFarland's round.

The father, John Routt, was fatally injured. The driver of the truck is held in $5000 bail on a charge of manslaughter. The esplanade was dimly lighted and the accident is said to have been due to that fact.

'SEEING THE COST' IS PASTOR'S TOPIC

Rev. Harry J. Miles Preaches at Berkeley Union Services.

BERKELEY, Nov. 30.—In his sermon at the union Thanksgiving services today, Rev. Harry J. Miles said in part: "Thanksgiving day brings Americans nearest to the expression of a national religion. The government maintains one religious institution, this yearly assembly of the people to thank God," continued Dr. Miles, speaking from the text of David's refusal to drink water which men brought in jeopardy of their lives. "If our heritage is to be a help instead of a curse we must see the cost at which it has come and where gratitude for it is due. The test by which we are tried is whether we take all that comes our way, or keep hands off things that do not belong to you or me, but are to be held for the whole people and for God. David met his test when he refused water which men brought him in jeopardy of their lives, admiring the spirit of their sacrifice, but recognizing that he was not the proper object of such devotion, that no individual could be; but that it was permissible only for the whole people and for God. David showed the traits of the ideal leader, the spirit of the adventure and the spirit that counts self nothing, before the common cause."

"We have today too many leaders who take all that is offered to them and wring from men all they can, without asking what the men owe themselves, their families, their country or their God. We need leaders in business and in government who will lead for the social good," said when personal or party profit is offered them, will, like David, refuse it, if it contradicts the public. It is harder for the political leader to get a following that will work for the public than for a faction. Too few of our leaders decline personal advantage, and those who do, find it hard to resist their own men from personal allegiance and party allegiance to enthusiasm for the city, or country, as David did when he turned the thought of men ready to do anything for him to the supreme allegiance which he and they owed."

Clerk Declares Saloon Man Tried to Kill Him With Loaded Pistol.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—In a quarrel over drinks in the saloon of the Hotel Eddie, at 11:30 this morning, Harry W. Ramsey, a clerk of 874 Broadway street, claims that he was struck over the head by George P. Brown, the proprietor, who, he says, snapped a gun in his face.

"He tried to kill me," said Ramsey to Captain of Police Duke, who, together with a number of detectives, hurried to the scene from the Central Station nearby.

Brown claims that he struck Ramsey with a stick but the latter asserts that he put a gun to his head and snapped it, but it failed to go off, and he then hit him on the forehead. Ramsey was treated at the Central Emergency Hospital for a lacerated scalp and Brown will be charged with assault with a deadly weapon on complaint of Ramsey.

GRAIN FIELDS ARE SWEEPED BY BLAZE

Fire Fighters Unable to Cope With the Flames in South.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 30.—Pastures, grain fields and live stock on many ranches east and north of San Diego have suffered severely from brush and timber fires which have been raging in an estimated area of 500 square miles, for the past three days. Forest Supervisor E. H. Wholer of the Cleveland reserve is sending out reinforcements to the fire fighters.

In many places the men are concentrating their work on ranches in the path of the flames. There is no rain in sight today and progress in fighting the fires is slow.

In the J. J. Valley damage will be great. More than 150 men are engaged in efforts to save ranch buildings and homes. This is a continuation of the San Miguel fire. Having burned the entire eastern and southern slopes of the mountains, the flames are now eating their way southward across the fields.

FANNED BY BREEZE

Volcan mountain fire is still fanned by a strong eastern breeze and is burning northward and westward, threatening both the Warner and the Santa Ysabel ranches. Fifty men from Warner's ranch and that many more from Santa Ysabel and Mesa Grande are fighting the flames.

The fire, starting on Viegas mountain and extending to the foothills, now threatens the Japattul valley, where are located a number of ranches, pastures and grain fields.

Harry Futham, whose ranch was surrounded by the flames, sent out eight men, who succeeded in saving considerable valuable property. The fire in the San Diegoito valley between San Marcos and Olivenhain is still burning. More than 100 men are fighting this fire. Loss to ranch property will be large.

SEARCH OF ROOM REVEALS BOMBS

Four Pieces of Loaded Gas Pipe Found With Brass Knuckles.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 30.—In a room occupied by a man named Albert Stodd, Chief of Police J. K. Wilson and a detective this morning unearthed four bombs made of gas pipe and equipped with fuses and caps. A number of brass knuckles and a heavy "billy" also were discovered. This morning a test of one of the bombs was made on the beach. It exploded with terrific force.

Stodd now in the county hospital nursing a broken leg. About two weeks ago he jumped from his room, which is in a tenement house on Thirteenth street, between H and I streets, to escape a fire which he claimed started from gasoline he was using to clean his clothes. There was an explosion, a flash, and when the fire department arrived Stodd jumped to the ground, two stories below, and sustained a broken leg.

POLICE GIVEN TIP

Early this morning the chief of police received a tip that explosives were stored in Stodd's room and the search followed. At the hospital this morning Stodd flatly refused to talk of himself, his business in this city, when he came here and what he proposed to do with the bombs.

It is believed he came here from Los Angeles, in which he brought the bombs with him or made them after his arrival could not be learned. The police claim that the explosion which occurred two weeks ago indicates that Stodd was manufacturing bombs then, but they are unable to account for the failure of the other bombs to explode at the same time. A rigid investigation is being made by the police.

new trains will be less noisy and in every way will give a more efficient service.

TO EXTEND SYSTEM

Plans are now under way for the extension of the Seventh street line from Melrose, across East Fourteenth street and along the foothills to San Leandro. It is expected that the extension will be in operation within another year.

When the first electric train traversed the route today, the last bit of paving on the street had been completed and members of the club which worked diligently in bringing about the improvement are now wringing congratulations by the entire population of that part of the city. In return for the valuable franchise the Southern Pacific Company agreed with the city of Oakland to pave gutter and curb the street in addition to a regular monthly money payment. Early in the year, when the franchise was about to expire, the residents of West Oakland got together and demanded that in return for the franchise being granted the company the street should be paved. After considerable effort an agreement was reached which was most satisfactory to all concerned and the result of which have benefited the whole city.

On the Saturday preceding New Year's, the event will be celebrated under the auspices of the Seventh Street Improvement Club. There will be seven bands distributed along the street from Fallon to the bay. Special illumination features will be included and a general carnival will be enacted. The committee which has in charge the arrangements consists of Rev. E. P. Dempsey, P. A. Cox, J. J. McElroy, Charles L. Pierce, Charles L. Sturm, Louis Schaffer and Oscar Gehring.

The Effects of Opiates

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotics, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

COST OF U. S. NAVY IS MATERIALLY REDUCED

Secretary Meyer Reports Saving of More Than $400,000 in Two Years.

BETTER BUSINESS METHODS PRACTICED

Cheaper Powder, Rope and Other Materials Feature of Economics.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—With an appropriation reduced by $400,000, the government the past two years has maintained a navy larger by twenty per cent than it was during the preceding two years. This was made possible by economies resulting from improvement in business methods, said Secretary Meyer in a statement made public today. A reduction of ten cents a pound in the cost of powder is reported by the ordnance bureau, a million pounds having been made during the past year at a cost of 33.3 cents a pound; purchasing hemp at Manila resulted in a saving of $40 a ton, an annual saving of approximately $30,000; by docking vessels at navy yards the department saved $45,000 during the past fiscal year, a reduction of twenty per cent, and the use of substitutes for linseed oil netted a saving of about $40,000.

By manufacturing certain classes of goods at navy yards, in which they can be produced cheaper, large savings have resulted. Particularly in this, true of standard mess tables, the cost of which has been reduced from $20 to $11.94 at one navy yard.

Centralization of designing and constructive work in the bureau of yards and docks has proved economical and by an adoption of the plan of unit prices on various articles of ration the estimates for provisions for the marine corps have been reduced by $20,000 for the next fiscal year.

BRITISH STEAMER DRIFTING AT SEA

Berwind Moore Loses Rudder and Is at the Mercy of Fierce Gale.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 30.—Driven by a strong gale, the British steamer Berwind Moore, bound from Norvik, Norway, for Philadelphia, is still drifting helplessly about today. The steamer lost her rudder early yesterday, but succeeded in passing a hawser to the German steamer Energie, and was headed for port when the hawser parted. The Energie hopes to pick her up again.

The Uranium liner Campanelle, from Rotterdam for New York, is in port here today, bearing evidence of a terrific battle with a storm. Her steam pipes are broken, her winches out of commission and her iron deck tanks smashed. The steamer struck a hurricane on her way across, which swept everything movable from the decks.

DISPUTE, VICTORY FOR SCRUB WOMEN

Vacuum Cleaning Will Be Ta-booed and Strike Is Threatened.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—A dispute between plumbers and steam fitters as to which should install a vacuum-cleaning system in the new North American building has resulted in a victory for the scrub women.

The work has been delayed to such an extent by the quarrel over the work that the owners decided yesterday that the building would be cleaned by women with mops and brooms and no vacuum system installed.

This means a loss of several thousand dollars to the workmen and the steamfitters are now said to be considering a strike for the purpose of compelling the owners to install the system, according to contract.

OAKLAND'S BOYS AND GIRLS

SCHOOL SENATE HAS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The Oakland High School Senate held its semi-annual election yesterday afternoon at the local high school with the following results: President, Chester de Lancy; vice-president, Ed. Bronson; secretary, Walter Witt; debating manager, Lloyd N. Cobbledick; treasurer, Frank Ryan; student council representative, Howard Schaeffe, sergeant-at-arms; Stanley McKim.

A lively campaign marked the election and in three instances a primary election was called for. The office of debating manager was fought out by Lloyd N. Cobbledick, Robert Shortzer and Harold Aydelotte, the former winning both the primary and regular election. Howard Schaeffe, Clarence De Lancy and Adolph Kroeger were in the fight for student council representative. The office of sergeant-at-arms also drew out three candidates, namely, Stanley McKim, Fred Abbott and Martin Goldberg.

Walter Witt for secretary was elected without opposition. Three new members of the Self Government Committee of the Oakland High School were elected yesterday after a close contest. Donald Ross, John Whitton and Beverly Carleton were elected to serve on the boys' committee. Among the candidates were: Clarence Larsen, Louis Shade, Frank Ryan, Beverly Carleton, John Whitton and Donald Ross.

GIRLS' ELECT. Grace Middleton, a student in the Commercial department of the Manual Training and Commercial High School, was elected captain of the Girls' Basketball team yesterday afternoon at the regular election of the Students' Council. PUPILS AID ARMY IN FEEDING THE NEEDY

The children of the public schools of this city have been thanked by the Salvation Army officials for their generous donations to the Thanksgiving dinner for the poor. The response to the call for food as well as clothing has displayed the genuine charity of the boys and girls of Oakland.

The week of self-denial observed by the boys of the Young Men's Christian Association terminated last Saturday evening when the members of all the juvenile clubs of the institution contributed their nickels and dimes to purchase Thanksgiving dinners for the deserving ones. Every year the lads save for one week for the purpose of accumulating a sufficient fund to contribute to the Thanksgiving meal.

SUPERINTENDENT TELLS OF TROUBLE

George F. McLeod Testifies at Trial of Edward Decker, Accused of Murder.

MARTINEZ, Nov. 30.—Edward Decker, charged with the murder of Dennis Cronin at Crockett last August in a conflict between strikers and strikebreakers of the California-Hawaiian Sugar Refining Company, was not called to the stand in the trial yesterday, as was expected, much to the disappointment of a large crowd. Instead George F. McLeod, superintendent of the Crockett Sugar Refinery, occupied the stand during the entire afternoon's session.

McLeod told of the troubles at Crockett during the strike and related instances where he declared men who had been employed were attacked and beaten by the striking union men. Other employees related circumstances similar to those told of by McLeod. The trial was continued until Tuesday morning.

GROWS HAIR ON BALD HEADS

Resorcin is one of the latest and most effective hair-restorers discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Naphthol, also a powerful antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs, which rob the hair of its naturalness, and thus creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Fluocarpine is a well-known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to disease. Yet it is not a coloring matter or dye.

The famous Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of Resorcin, Beta Naphthol and Fluocarpine, combined with pure alcohol, because of its cleansing and antiseptic qualities. It makes the scalp healthy, nourishes the hair, revitalizes the roots, supplies hair nourishment and stimulates a new growth.

We want you to try a few bottles of Rexall "33" Hair Tonic on our personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith in this remedy and it should indisputably demonstrate that we know what we are talking about when we say that Rexall "33" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except of course where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the follicles closed and grown over, and the scalp is glazed.

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "33" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done for hundreds of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at the Owl Drug Company stores in Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Sacramento, Portland, Seattle, Spokane.

LEAPS FROM FAST TRAIN IN SLEEP

New York U. S. Army Lieutenant Unhurt Despite Dangerous Jumps.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—While dreaming that he was aboard a ship that he was to collide with the ocean liner, Lieutenant T. F. Bernard of Fort Slocum, N. Y., jumped from the window of a Pullman train near Clarendon, Idaho, Sunday night, narrowly escaping serious injury. The train at the time was running about 35 miles an hour.

Bernard says he retired early in the evening, and that about midnight he dreamt he was caught in a collision. So vivid was the dream that he was impelled to jump overboard. He leaped through the window of the car and landed in a snow bank alongside the track. The crashing of glass awakened the porter of the car and the train was stopped and backed up to the scene of the accident. He was taken into Spokane, where he was given medical treatment.

Bernard arrived at the St. Francis hotel yesterday morning and immediately reported to the commandant at the Presidio. He was taken to the General Hospital, where his numerous scratches and bruises were treated and then returned to his hotel. Two claim agents of the Northern Pacific railway called on him at the hotel yesterday to get a statement of the accident.

BEDMAKER DISCOVERS BODY OF SUICIDE

PETALUMA, Nov. 30.—J. J. Vallier committed suicide in his room at the Continental Hotel here Tuesday. But the body was not found until yesterday when a bedmaker at the hotel discovered the body. A bullet hole through the man's head and a revolver clutched in his hand showed the manner of his death. For some years past Vallier had been employed at the Golden Eagle Mills in Petaluma, and on Tuesday at noon demanded what money was coming to him in wages. He then went to the hotel and killed himself. Doctors here believe he believed to have been the cause of the rail act. Six months ago his second wife left him.

ORPHEUM 'HOLIDAY WEEK' BILL ATTRACTS THROGS

One of The Four Fords, dancers, who claim many records over the Orpheum circuit.

This is "Holiday week" at the Oakland Orpheum and the throngs are making merry at the big temple of vaudeville on Twelfth street. Hundreds are arranging reservations for tonight, having the notion, apparently, that the best way to spend a holiday is by witnessing the new vaudeville show at the Orpheum.

They seem to have poured out money like water for the new vaudeville bill there this week. The big pretentious musical act, "The Courtiers," heads the bill, and it deserves its place at the head of the procession. It was staged by B. A. Rolfe, a past master in the game of putting on these big productions. There are a dozen splendid musicians in the company. Attired in colonial costumes, against the background of an old fashioned Colonial parlor, these musicians, men and women, render some most delightful music. The whole thing is a rich treat for the eye and ear.

The fun on the bill is contributed by three comedy cyclists from London, Mosher, Hayes and Mosher. Some of the most comic falls that were ever devised must be put to the credit of this trio. There is a black face comedian in the act who seems to take his life in his hands at every show. He falls from a dizzy height, allows himself to be run over by bicycles and to be twisted and turned by his companions while the crowd roars in glee at his mishaps. It is strange but true that the funniest things are often found in the apparent misfortunes of other people and this is illustrated by the way the audience shrieks in mirth at the bumps that this colored man gets in this performance.

Six wonderful acrobats from Europe known as the Six Bricks open the show. There is a splendid musical comedy sketch called "The Commercial Man," which Raymond, Burton and Bain present. It sparkles with witty lines and has a lot of clever songs and dances in its composition.

The Arlington Four, a great quartette of dancing and singing messenger boys, are again with us and are as big favorites as ever.

Jane Boynton, a pretty girl with lots of talent at the piano and in her rag time singing is a hit.

Josie Heather is singing a lot of new songs and the Four Fords are giving their great dancing act to the usual enthusiastic applause.

ABROGATE RUSSIAN TREATY, IS PLEA

Statesman Declares Time Is at Hand to Demand Equality for All.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30.—Abrogation of the treaty with Russia unless absolute equality be extended to American citizens traveling under passport of this nation, is urged in statements made here at a meeting of prominent Jewish citizens by United States Senator James A. Reed of the Fifth Missouri district. Both favor the adoption of the resolution pending in Congress to terminate the existing treaty of 1832 with Russia.

"The question is not one of race or creed," said Senator Reed. "We are simply called upon to answer, will the United States insist that Russia recognize American citizens as Americans, granting to all the same privileges? This Russia has persistently and impudently refused to do. For more than thirty years she has coolly broken her treaty obligations.

"Diplomats of great character have been unable to accomplish relief by negotiations. The time has arrived to act. We should no longer maintain treaty relations with a government which does not respect its treaty obligations."

He believes it is the duty of the American government to demand that Russia afford full and equal dignity to American citizens, without discrimination on the ground of race or religion. He should not tolerate discrimination against a Jewish citizen of this country. It is a violation of the spirit, and I believe also of the letter, of the treaty with Russia.

"The matter has been brought to the attention of the Russian government by diplomacy without result, and the time has now come to abrogate the treaty with that country unless the terms of the treaty are respected."

UPRISING IN LISBON FEARED FOR FUTURE

LISBON (via frontier), Nov. 30.—The opinion generally prevailed that disorders which occurred here on November 28 were only preliminary to more serious events. The riot, it is said, was started by monarchists, who recently arrived at Oporto. It is declared they are bribing the monarchist element at once, relieving the uprising in Lisbon to coincide with crossing of the frontier by the royalists.

The authorities yesterday closed what they allege to be a secret monastery of the Order of Holy Spirit, composed of foreign friars. They arrested fifty-two inmates and confiscated paintings, tapestries and ornaments of an estimated value of $3,725,000.

WANTS RETURN OF YOSEMITE VALLEY

Senator Curtin to Introduce Concurrent Resolution Asking for Action.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 30.—Return of Yosemite valley to the state of California by the federal government on the ground that federal appropriations for the valley have been insufficient, will be asked by State Senator John B. Curtin of Sonoma, in a concurrent resolution he will present to the Senate tomorrow, according to his present plan. Senator Curtin already has drafted his resolution.

It argues that during the six years that have elapsed since the state surrendered control of the valley, federal annual appropriations have not been equal to the state's appropriations in the three years preceding its release of the land to the government. Curtin declares that California desires to make Yosemite valley a big feature of the exposition year, 1915, and that a heavy expenditure, which the government is disinclined to make, will be necessary.

Turkey and Cranberry Sauce.

Thanksgiving Day is a peculiar American festival. Originally instituted in New England and for many years confined to that section or to localities in the West peopled by immigrants from the Down East settlements, it finally extended over the whole country and has become national in character. It was instituted in the early colonial days, when pioneering was prompted by religious enthusiasm and love of liberty, and has finally become an expression of fraternal sympathy throughout the land. Its inspiration was the vicissitudes, the hardships and trials which our forefathers underwent in the early settlement of these shores. It is a celebration dedicated to home ties, family reunions and thankfulness to the Creator for the blessings we enjoy. It is wholly unsectarian and hence appeals to men of all faiths and conditions. It is even more intensely human than it is national, and touches every chord in the human heart that is responsive to generous sentiment, to family affection, to feelings of friendship, charity and compassion.

The turkey, noblest of all table fowls, is the emblem of Thanksgiving Day. It symbolizes the bounties of Providence, the abundance of the harvest and the pleasures of the feast. Like the festival, the turkey is indigenous to the land—a national character, so to speak. From the beginning the turkey has been intimately associated with the Thanksgiving dinner. It is the central dish, the crowning glory of the feast. The turkey is at its best when the frost is on the pumpkin and the corn is in the shock. Hence pumpkin pie is an accessory and companion piece to the turkey. It is part and parcel of the Thanksgiving menu. Pumpkins and turkeys ripen at the same season of the year. They jointly celebrate the end of the harvest and the annual cessation from the labors of tillage. In conjunction on the Thanksgiving board, they symbolize rest, the blessings of abundance and the grace of hospitality.

But what would a Thanksgiving turkey be without cranberry sauce? Cranberry sauce is as national as Thanksgiving Day and the turkey. It is a product of New England thrift and necessity. Its history is the history of Thanksgiving Day. It is an outgrowth of the colonization of New England. When the Pilgrims first came to the country they had no vegetables for winter keep save the pumpkin. They had no fruits and were so far removed from civilization that they could not procure them even had they possessed the money to buy them, the condiments and small luxuries which sauce a feast and give zest to the appetite. They found the turkey roaming wild in the forests—a game bird without a peer, a table delicacy emblematic of good cheer and profuse hospitality. But the wherewithal to sauce it was lacking. In the marshes the Pilgrims found growing some small, sour red berries, and these they used for saucing the turkey. That was the origin of cranberry sauce, also the inception of the cranberry industry. So turkey and cranberry sauce figured together at the first Thanksgiving dinner, and pumpkin pie was the dessert. Ever since turkey, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie have been the salient features of the Thanksgiving dinner. Like liberty and union, they are one and inseparable—as typical of the country as Thanksgiving Day, as symbolical of the land and its people as it is suggestive of the season and the conditions which originally brought them together in a table menu.

THE TRIBUNE hopes that every one of its readers will feast today on turkey, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie, and that all will have plenty and to spare; and that good digestion will wait on appetite. Marry, say grace and fall to lest the victuals grow cold and hunger gnaw at the spirit of thankfulness. No wonder the Pilgrims instituted a festival when they took possession of a land in which turkeys were running wild and cranberries were growing in every swamp. It was the turkeys and cranberries that they gave thanks for.

Contrary to expectations the price of turkeys did not run high this season. The supply was abundant and the price within the reach of almost every one. In fact, the price of turkeys was low compared to the general level of food cost. It is quite evident that the middlemen did not combine to advance retail prices or to create an artificial shortage. The market was unrestricted in every sense, a fact proved by the variance in prices at the different poulterer's stalls. This enabled everybody to get a good turkey dinner cheap.

A Scheme of Political Brigandage.

Some propositions have only to be stated to be condemned. Of this kind is the proposal of Assemblyman Randall that San Francisco's legislative representation be cut down to six Senators and twelve Assemblymen. Mr. Randall proposes to violate the constitution as well as the elementary principles of justice. His plan is to rob the larger cities that the rural counties shall be given an unjust and disproportionate power in the Legislature.

The constitution of California provides that population shall be the basis of apportionment. It also provides that the Legislature shall be composed of forty Senators and eighty Assemblymen. The apportionment the present Legislature is called upon to make must be based upon the Federal census of 1910, which gives 2,377,549 as the gross population of the State. This gives one Senator to a fraction less than 60,000 people. San Francisco contained 416,912 inhabitants in 1910. On the basis of population she is entitled to seven Senators and fourteen Assemblymen. Mr. Randall proposes to take from her one Senator and two Assemblymen without color of justification. His plan is to give what is unjustly taken from San Francisco to sparsely settled interior counties having no distinctively large interests to serve.

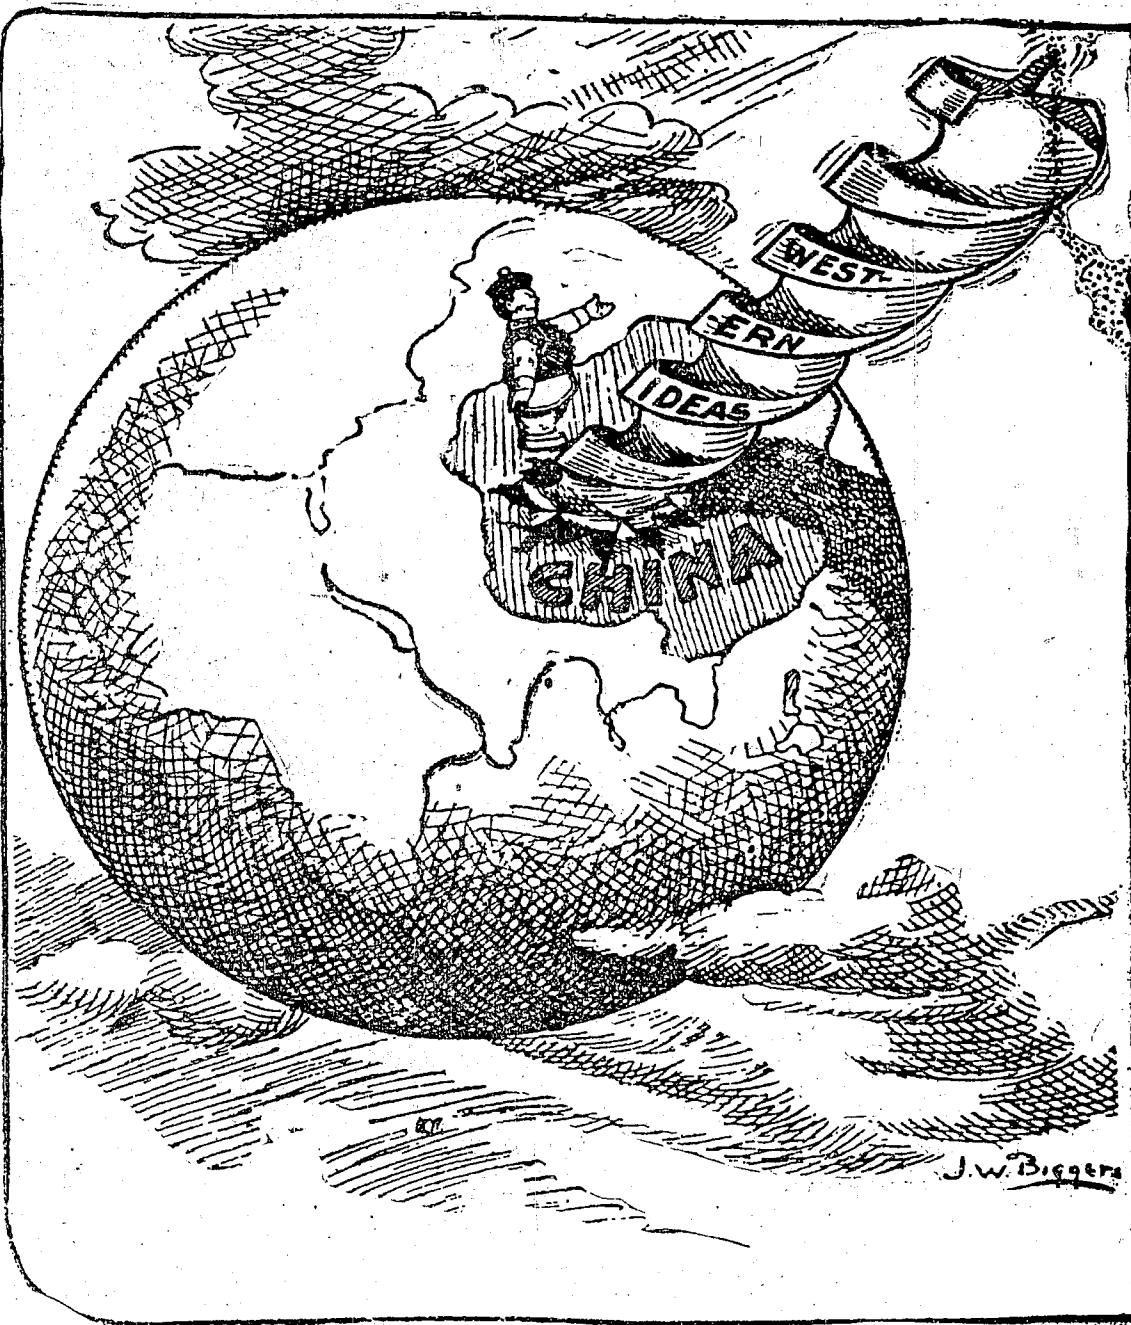

The example of New York and Maryland is pointed to as a justification for this gerrymandering scheme. It is an excuse that will not bear examination. The constitutions of New York and Maryland provide that not more than one-third of the Senators and Assemblymen shall be apportioned to any one city. The organic laws of New York and Maryland were drawn to preserve the balance of political power. The object was to prevent the city of New York from controlling the Legislature of the State. In Maryland the object was to prevent Baltimore from controlling the Legislature of that State.

But we have no such condition here and no such constitutional provision as governs apportionment in Maryland and New York. The excuse offered by Mr. Randall defies our organic law and assumes a condition which does not exist and never can exist in this State.

Political power in California is too widely distributed to ever be concentrated as it is in New York and Maryland, and there is less danger of its being concentrated now than there was twenty years ago when San Francisco contained nearly one-fourth the inhabitants of the State. Now San Francisco contains only a little more than one-sixth the population of California.

Mr. Randall not only attempts to set a theory above the mandate of the constitution, but brings forward a false pretense to justify the attempt.

AND IT CAUSED A MIGHTY UPHEAVAL

—NASHVILLE DEMOCRAT.

Incinerate the Garbage.

Oakland and Berkeley continue to dispose of their garbage by having it dumped in the ocean outside the Heads. It is a crude and insanitary method of garbage disposal. Garbage should be incinerated, and there is no substantial reason why Oakland and Berkeley should not adopt the best approved modern method of garbage disposal. But one excuse after another is given for following a practice that is not only insanitary, but involves the defilement of the waters in the vicinity of the Golden Gate.

Lack of money is the excuse most frequently given. There is merit in it, of course, but where there's a will there's a way. As long as we are pursuing our constructive public improvement policy there will always be a shortage in the finances—always difficulty in making both ends meet. There will never be enough money to go around, and there will be many desirable and even necessary things waiting to be done. Nevertheless money will have to be provided for doing some things, and the more important things should be done first. However, it is not always easy to decide what are the most important and essential things. That difficulty is ever to be reckoned with.

Oakland is doing a great many things at present. No other city on the Pacific Coast is doing so much constructive work, is putting so much effort and money in civic development and adornment, and in consequence the problem of ways and means is just now a most perplexing one. Our scheme of civic development is so broad and comprehensive and so varied in its activities as not only to require large sums, but judgment and discernment in deciding just when and where money is to be expended and work pushed. But making due allowance for these difficulties and perplexities we still think a garbage crematory should be provided at an early date. Berkeley should take steps to collect and incinerate her own garbage without delay.

A few days ago we noted in a Texas paper that Galveston had installed a garbage incinerating plant. Galveston has about as many inhabitants as Berkeley—if anything her population is smaller. Eleven years ago that city was almost completely destroyed by a tropical hurricane. Since then Galveston has expended about $6,000,000 in public improvements—in building a sea wall and boulevard, raising the grade of the city and building a great concrete causeway to connect the island with the mainland. Notwithstanding the vast sums expended on these gigantic improvements, Galveston has not neglected the question of garbage disposal. Money was provided to build an incinerator, which is now in operation. Galveston could have sent her garbage out to sea, as Oakland and Berkeley are doing, and she had an abundance of plausible excuses for doing so; but she went ahead and did the right thing. There was the will and the will found a way. Berkeley is talking about various big municipal enterprises, including the installation of a lighting plant. She had better begin by installing a garbage incinerating plant. Oakland should do the same.

The announcement that Senator Tom Finn is to be appointed Harbor Commissioner is another assurance that the San Francisco Harbor Commission is to be taken out of politics.

JAPANESE DENTISTRY

Japanese native dentists conduct their business in a manner which would undoubtedly cause any European practitioner to open his eyes in amazement. The victim is seated on the ground, the dentist bends over him, and forces his left hand between the patient's jaws, in such a manner that the mouth cannot possibly be closed. Then he grasps the doomed tooth between the thumb and forefinger of the right hand, and with one deft wrench removes it and throws it upon the ground.

So great is the skill of these native dentists that many of them are able to remove six or seven teeth per minute. Indeed, their skill is hardly to be wondered at, when one considers the course of preparatory training they are obliged to undergo. A number of holes are bored in a stout plank, and this is fixed firmly to the ground. In the holes are driven wooden pegs, and the would-be dentist has to extract them with his fingers without dislodging the board. This process is repeated with a board of pine wood and when he has succeeded in extracting the pegs, from the oak plank that the Japanese considers himself qualified to practice upon his fellowmen.—Tit-Bits.

Twenty Years Ago Today

Detective Harry N. Morse, who lives in East Oakland, has sent a letter to the grand jury which probably will prevent its reporting for several days. The letter has to do with the poolrooms which are operating in Oakland.

A. L. Conkling was garrotted and robbed on Thirteenth street between Clay and Jefferson at 7:30 o'clock last night. He was walking quietly along with his umbrella up when a man pushed against him and knocked the covering from his hand. When Conkling stooped to pick it up he was struck on the head.

Mrs. B. A. Knight gave a tea yesterday in honor of Mrs. Scott of St. Louis. Among those present were: Mrs. W. W. Kales, Mrs. T. G. Coghill, Mrs. E. C. Terry, Mrs. John A. Stanley, Mrs. A. D. Thomson, Mrs. Eugene Beck, Mrs. Eastland, Mrs. George De Golla, Mrs. J. Clark and Mrs. W. E. Dargie.

The handsome government steel bridge across the tidal canal at Park street was tested this morning in the presence of Colonel Mendell, Mr. LeConte of the United States engineering corps, a representative of the contractor and several hundred citizens. A heavy steam roller weighing thirteen tons was used in the test, which was taken by levers as the roller steamed across the structure.

Cashier C. E. Palmer of the Union National bank has returned from a pleasant trip across the continent and into Mexico. In Los Angeles he was joined by E. F. Spence, president of the First National bank of that city. They spent their time in viewing the interesting places in Mexico.

Charles B. Overacker, who has been acting as clerk of the board of supervisors for the last seven months, tendered his resignation to County Clerk Crane this morning. J. J. Hanftin Jr. will probably be his successor.

Edgar A. Matthews will be married Tuesday next to Miss Katherine C. Dart. The ceremony will take place at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. A. Dart of 1129 Myrtle street.

The war on the waterfront will probably be settled without bloodshed. J. P. Dameron, who is making the fight against the Oakland Waterfront company, will not take an army of men to the front and try to regain possession of the disputed marsh land by force, as he prefers to appeal to the courts for relief.

Much of the good advice handed you won't hold water. Being willing helps some, but it is getting busy that counts. No doubt there are cheerful givers—but did you ever seem one? IT IS SERIOUS

Some Oakland People Fail to Realize the Seriousness of A Bad Back.

The constant aching of a bad back, the weariness, the tired feeling, the pains and aches of kidney illness are serious—if neglected. Dangerous urinary troubles follow. Julius Radston, 2154 Virginia street, Berkeley, Cal., says: "It would be impossible for me to give Doan's Kidney Pills more praise than they deserve. They cured me of kidney complaint from which I suffered for fifteen years and I have had no recurrence of the trouble. I was distressed by pains in my back and at times it really seemed as if I could endure the suffering no longer. Mornings when I got up my back was so weak and painful that it required an effort for me to walk. My kidneys were weak and I felt miserable in every way. I was treated by many doctors and they all failed. One of the best in San Francisco, but I received no relief whatever. Reading about Doan's Kidney Pills I was induced to try them, though I must admit that I had doubt of their curing me. To my surprise I received prompt relief and after I had taken the contents of two boxes I was free from kidney complaint. In the summer of 1907 I publicly told of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills and as I have no further cause for complaint I am willing to re-endorse this remedy." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, Sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

BEATEN BY THUGS; SAFE IS CRACKED

Wealthy Japanese Gives Battle in Vain; Oakland Man Is Loser.

ANTIOCH, Nov. 30.—In a fierce hand-to-hand battle with four cracksmen in a lonely spot on Sherman island, in the middle of the San Joaquin river, at an early hour yesterday, George Ieo, a wealthy Japanese rancher and owner of the entire southern section of the island, was beaten over the head, dragged from his hut and left to die on the shore of the river.

After making sure that they would not be bothered, the four men then dragged the small safe from one of the front rooms, and, after blowing it open on the bank of the river, loaded it into a boat and dumped it into the stream. They then made their escape in a buggy, taking with them more than $400 belonging to Ieo and $355 belonging to Henry Schlatter, an Oakland estate dealer, who left in the box for safekeeping.

Ieo was found in an unconscious condition this morning by one of the laborers on the ranch, and Sheriff Veale was at once alerted. After search through the surrounding country all day, Veale could find no trace of the men, and, as Ieo has no description of them, it will be a difficult matter to find them.

According to Ieo's story, he went to bed early in the evening, but was awakened shortly after 2 o'clock by some one knocking at the door. Three men entered the room and asked him the combination of the safe. This he refused to divulge and one of them hit him over the head with a blunt instrument.

At low tide today the end of the safe was found sticking above water, and when fished out fell to pieces as a result of the large charge of dynamite used in blowing it open.

SCHOOL CHILDREN GIVE TO THE POOR

The Piedmont Youngsters and Teachers Contribute for Feasts.

PIEDMONT, Nov. 30.—The day before Thanksgiving last year the pupils of the Piedmont school, Piedmont, were asked to each bring something toward a dinner for a poor family. The contributions were so generous that five families were supplied with provisions of various kinds. This year on Wednesday morning the children came trooping into the schoolhouse, loaded down with foodstuffs in boxes, cans, cartons and driving in their pony carts with sacks of flour, boxes of potatoes and the like until there was ample for at least twelve families. The teachers of the school supplied a large turkey, and one of the children brought a chicken. Bed covers and clothing were also added to this year's donation, and they supplied a need in more than one home.

Six families received their Thanksgiving dinner on Wednesday afternoon, and the remainder was given to one of the many charity workers for distribution. One of the families visited by Miss Clara Crompton, the principal of the school, consisted of a family of seven, the father a seven-year-old child was taking charge of five younger children and the home was very needy. The clothing was given to them.

HAYWARD MASKED BALL IS SUCCESS

The Nineteenth Annual Affair Is Given by Fire Department.

HAYWARD, Nov. 30.—The nineteenth annual masquerade ball given by the fire department of Hayward in Native Sons hall last night, was a brilliant success, nearly a thousand persons being in attendance. The grand march presented a scene of unprecedented color and variety of costumes. Following the unmasking a number of prizes were awarded by the prize committee, consisting of George Lucas, Frank Lake and Tony Cabral.

Through the efforts of the arrangements committee the hall was elaborately decorated for the occasion. On the committee were Arthur Manter, P. Moody, Ned Dale, George Grindell, A. La Cunha and J. Goodell.

Prominent persons from San Leandro, San Lorenzo, Alvarado and other neighboring towns were noticeable in the throng of merry-makers. The floor was under the management of a special committee consisting of A. Nyeck, J. A. Dale, J. Lawrence, E. J. Grindell, R. A. Kolze, George Melinger and J. Riggs.

The affair was a benefit for the fire department, for the improvement of which bonds have recently been voted. Fire Chief Riggs was given an ovation when he appeared in the grand march after the unmasking.

Site is purchased for new city hall.

GOES HOME FOR HIS BANK ROLL

Bunco Men Tempt Angelo Madoti, and Now He's Out $700.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Angelo Madoti, a resident of Spisatin came to San Francisco to see the sights yesterday, but neglected to bring his bank roll along. As this amounted to $700, and as a couple of bunco men wanted it very badly, he journeyed back, procured the coin and then was victimized out of it, in time-honored fashion.

Madoti had scarcely reached the ferry building before he found himself in conversation with a stranger, who in turn introduced him to another man. A card game was proposed, and Madoti was strong for it, but lacked the necessary money. He told his new-found friends of the $700, and a trip to Spisatin was proposed. The money was obtained, and on the return trip one of the pair proposed that he place it in a handkerchief along with $100 more, and he should keep it. He did so, found his friends had switched handkerchiefs on him and that he was left penniless.

AVIATOR MASSON WILL FLY FROM GOLDEN GATE PARK TO OAKLAND

Saturday; to Fly Up Broadway; Will Do Stunts in the Air at 13th and Broadway

DIDIER MASSON, the celebrated aviator, in his machine.

Monsieur Didier Masson, the celebrated French aviator, who arrived in San Francisco Wednesday, will make a novel exhibition flight on Saturday, December 2, starting from Golden Gate park promptly at 12 o'clock noon, flying down Market street, over the Ferry building, across the bay and up Broadway in Oakland to the center of the city, where he will perform many aerial maneuvers for the amusement of the public.

Monsieur Didier Masson was one of the first foreign aviators to visit this country, coming over with M. Paulan and others to take part in the first American aviation contest, which was held at Los Angeles two years ago. He has made many successful cross-country flights since that time.

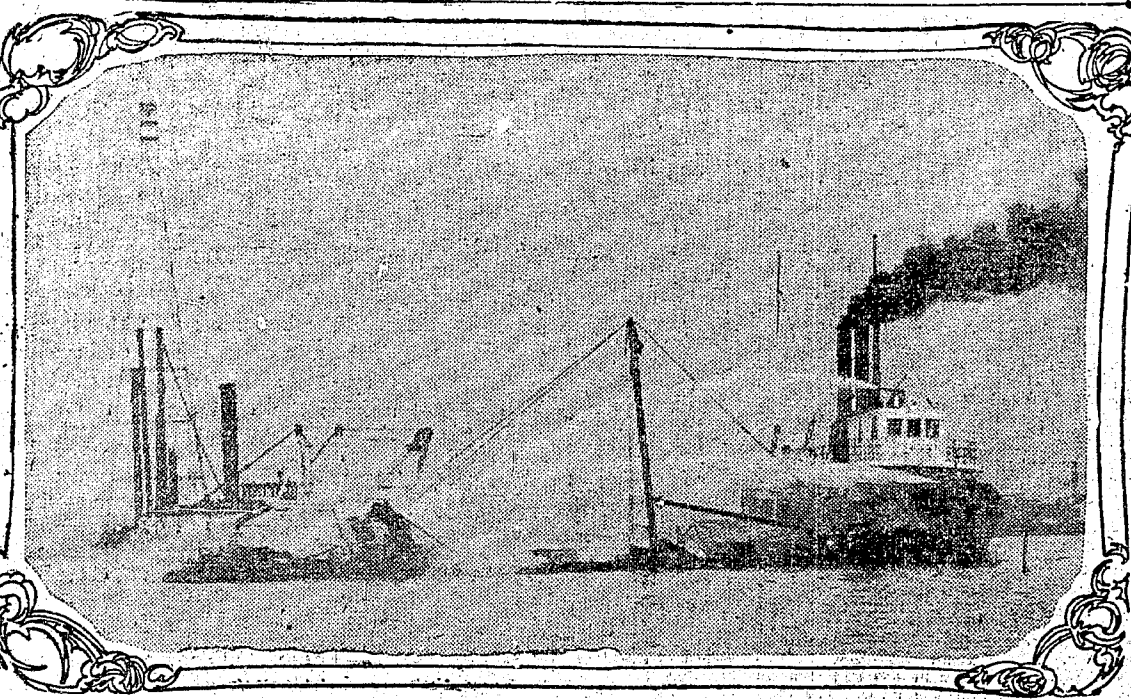

It was Didier Masson who delivered a bundle of newspapers for a prominent Los Angeles daily to San Bernardino, making the trip at a mile-a-minute clip.

Masson, his manager, publicity agent, and a score of machinists are now on the ground making preparations for this introductory flight.

The little Frenchman is very much pleased with California weather, as the last place at which he exhibited, a city in Canada, it was necessary for him to fly in a snow storm. It is a well-known fact that flying over a city, with its many treacherous air

MYSTERIOUS FIRE BURNS SMALL RIVER CRAFT

FLAMES CONSUME STEAMER TRILBY AND CARGO

The Southern Pacific fire tug Ajax pumping huge streams of water into the steamer Trilby, which burned to the water's edge and sank in Oakland harbor this morning.

Hull of Vessel Is Saved by Sinking at Alameda Point; Total Loss $5000

While lying at the dock of the Pacific Freight and Transportation Company, near the Webster street bridge, the river steamer Trilby, Captain L. G. Vaughn, mysteriously caught fire shortly after 7 o'clock this morning and was rapidly enveloped in flames, which threatened the nearby docks and bridge approach. The tug Pirate went alongside and towed the Trilby through the drawbridge and down the estuary to Alameda point, where it was met by the Southern Pacific fire tug Ajax. The hold of the burning vessel was flooded and it sank in shallow water. The upper works were almost entirely burned away and the loss will amount to $5000, fully covered by insurance.

Aboard the Trilby at the time of the disaster was a consignment of merchandise for the Alaska Packers' Association. This was mostly destroyed, either by fire or water, as the headway made by the flames made it impossible for the crew and wharf hands to unload the cargo.

The fire was the most spectacular that has occurred along the waterfront since the burning of the Captain Weber early last spring. Hundreds of persons witnessed the conflagration. A dense cloud of smoke was left in the wake of the steamer.

The crew of the Trilby consisted of eleven men. The small vessel had passed through a succession of accidents in its career, having on a previous occasion been sunk several times in collision and been once on fire. Although the damage done today is serious, it is probable that the hull can be raised and again placed in service. The Trilby was formerly a stern-wheeler, but was remodeled some time ago.

REAPPORTIONMENT BILL IN FOR ROUND SLEDDING

Opposition Develops Against It, So-Called Railroad Measure and Registrar Legislation

(By W. P. DE WOLF.)

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 30.—Senator Le Roy Wright of San Diego, being far from home, and without hope of returning thereto in time to eat Thanksgiving dinner with his family, offered the suggestion in the Senate yesterday that a session be held today. This proved about the most unpopular suggestion that could have been offered upon the eve of Thanksgiving, as was demonstrated by the storm of disapproval which greeted it. In retaliation the Senate immediately voted to adjourn until Friday afternoon at 2:30.

In the House, however, Majority Leader Bohnett's motion to adjourn until 3:30 Thursday morning, was adopted with a whoop and unanimity which apparently indicates his influence with the members. For the motion was not popular with those who voted for its adoption. Coupled with the motion was the suggestion that members living within reasonable distance of the capital be excused from attendance at the Thanksgiving session. It is probable that this effort of Bohnett's had much to do with the spontaneity with which the motion was carried.

SLEDDING IS HARD.

During this, the first week of the extraordinary session of the thirty-ninth General Assembly, it is becoming apparent that neither the reapportionment nor the so-called railroad bills are to have easy sledding. For that matter, it is not improbable that a strong opposition to the registrar bill will develop. Prominent members of both houses are expressing doubt regarding the passage of the reapportionment measures, and not a few of them predict that the Thompson bill will carry in the Senate and be defeated in the House. The political prophets say that the Randall bill will pass in the House, but be defeated in the Senate. A deadlock in the reapportionment issue is not at all improbable.

So-called administration measures are being introduced in both houses and immediately hastened to printer. One of the most important in its bearing upon the political history of California is that introduced by Assemblyman Young of Berkeley, dealing with Presidential primaries. But five states at present have a Presidential primary statute, namely, Oregon, New Jersey, Wisconsin, North Dakota and Nebraska, and in each of these commonwealths the law bearing on this subject is ambiguous and offers little precedent upon which to frame a lucid statute for this state.

POINTS OF BILL.

The salient points of the Young bill are as follows: Section 1. Calls a presidential primary election for May eighth, nineteen hundred and twelve, and for the second Tuesday in May of every fourth year thereafter. At this election voters of the several political parties are given opportunity, on separate party ballots, to express their preference as to the presidential nominee of their party, and to elect the delegates to their respective national conventions.

Section 2. Provides that the names of candidates for president shall be printed upon the ballot, on a one per cent petition of the voters of their party in each of the congressional districts. Provides also that if a petition is circulated by any person without his consent, (should not be of course either innocently, or for the purpose of dividing the votes of the party, or for any other purpose,) the name of the person so petitioned shall be printed on the ballot, in which case it shall not be printed.

Section 3. Provides that delegates to national conventions shall be elected from the state at large. While this provision necessitates a large number of delegates, twenty-six delegates from California, at the same time the practically universal demand that delegates be instructed by the state-wide preference of their party for presidential nominee, seems to make it unwise that delegates shall be elected from districts.

Section 4. Delegates shall have their names placed upon the ballot upon the filing of a petition of the voters of their party, consisting of at least one per cent of the party vote in each congressional district. This one per cent vote is required in each district to prevent as far as possible, a purely local movement to inject into the contest too many delegates, and thus confuse the issues involved. The whole twenty-six delegates may have their position circulated on one nomination paper, but in order that they shall be similarly grouped on the ballots, they must be so selected that each congressional district shall have at least two. Each candidate for election as delegate may express his preference as to presidential nominee.

Section 5. The names of the candidates for presidential nominee shall appear at the top of the ballot, with instructions to the elector to "vote for one." These names shall be arranged in columns, and the delegates appearing upon the ballot shall be grouped in these columns according to the preference of each for presidential nominee. Those who have expressed no preference, or who have expressed a preference for some nominee not on the ballot, shall be grouped in a miscellaneous column, and a blank column shall be provided for writing in the names of other delegates.

Section 6. The order of names in which delegates shall appear in their columns shall be determined by the secretary of state, and provided is made by which voters who desire to vote for all of a group of delegates who have expressed no preference, or who have expressed a preference for some nominee not on the ballot, may vote for such group by stamping a cross in a square place opposite the group.

Section 7. Each candidate for election as delegate to his national convention may include with his affidavit the following: "I hereby declare to the voters of my political party in the state of California that if elected as delegate to their national convention, I shall endeavor to the best of my judgment and ability, support that candidate for president of the United States who shall have received the highest number of votes cast throughout the entire state by the voters of my party for said office, at the May presidential primary election."

Section 8. Alternates to the national convention shall be chosen by the delegates elected to such convention in any manner to be determined by themselves. In this way each delegate can select his own alternate, or the whole body of alternates shall be elected by the majority vote of the delegation elected. The alternate of any such delegate as may be unable to attend the convention shall act in his place.

AS TO REGISTRATION. Section 9. For purposes of this election both old and new registration may be used. The registration must be from the fact that practically only three months would be available for getting out a new registration, inasmuch as the registration must be closed thirty days before election, according to the general law. Any person qualified to vote at a May election, must be registered by the time he is qualified to sign the nomination papers of candidates to be voted for at such election.

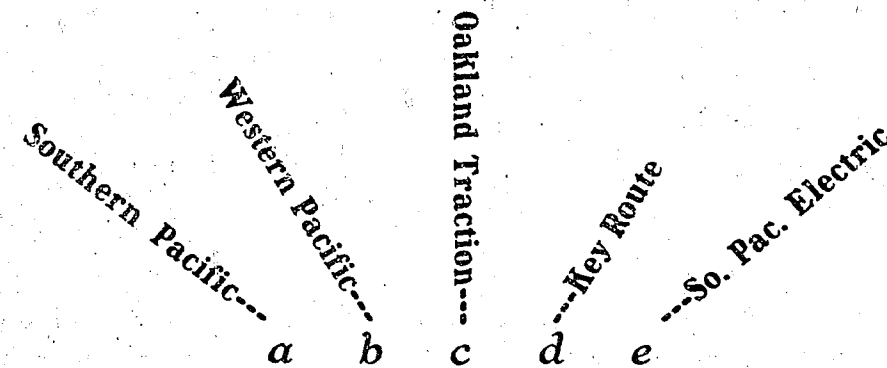

Section 10. Relative to the form of ballot to be used at the presidential primary election, including instructions to voters, and the like. Section 11. The provisions of the direct primary law, wherever applicable and not inconsistent with this act, are made applicable to this election.

Section 12. Formally calls the first presidential primary election for May eighth, nineteen hundred and twelve. Accordingly, this act being a call for an election, may go into effect immediately by the provisions of the constitutional amendment relating to the referendum, which permits a call for an election, to take effect immediately. The secretary of state and attorney general are instructed to prepare the forms necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

Section 13. The act shall be known as the "Presidential Primary Act." Section 14. The act shall take effect immediately. Section 15. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with or in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

The constitutional amendment introduced in the House by Assemblyman Brown of Colma, who has the distinction of being one of the few so-called regulars in the present legislature, provides for the amendment of article five and repeal of section twenty of article five. If adopted the amendment will so amend the constitution that a governor of the state of California can be elected to the United States Senate. It is, of course, possible that Assemblyman Brown had no intention of arousing the ire of

CARDINALS DON RED HATS

Three American Princes of the Church Are Invested With High Rank

Magnificent Picture Is Unreel as the Papal Procession Enters Hall

ROME, Nov. 30.—The concluding and most impressive ceremony connected with the creation of three new cardinals occurred this morning at the great public consistory at the Vatican when for princes of the church, including the three American prelates, Cardinals Falconio, Farley and O'Connell, were invested with the red hat, indicating their rank.

From early morning an immense throng was visible all over the city, the places of residence of the new cardinals being centers of attraction. Much attention was focused in movements of the American cardinals and large crowds gathered around the doors of the Hotel Bristol to see Cardinal Farley enter his carriage; about the Hotel Quirinal where Cardinal O'Connell is stopping, and about the Monastery of San Antonio, where Cardinal Falconio rests with his brother Franciscan monks.

THOUSANDS ON ROOFS.

Thousands of people also gathered on balconies and roofs and along the streets to witness the passing of the cardinals, the great clerical bodies, the ambassadors and the guests invited to attend the ceremony in the Vatican. Inside the Vatican unusual excitement was evident, as for four years no consistory had been held and for centuries not so many creations had occurred at one time.

Every available space in all the rooms and corridors along which the papal procession was to pass, and in the Hall of Beatification, where the consistory was to be held, was occupied at an early hour.

The Hall of Beatification, an immense chamber over the portico of St. Peter's, had been prepared for the occasion. At one end stood the throne, flanked by the cardinals' stalls and the places for high ecclesiastics, and the Sistine choir, while the other end was reserved for the diplomatic body accredited to the holy see and for the Roman aristocracy.

1000 AMERICANS.

Beneath these latter had been arranged standing room for ticket holders, among whom were nearly 1000 Americans.

After all had their allotted places, distant strains of vocal music were heard and the low approaching murmur of many voices announced the arrival of the papal procession. The picture which then unfolded itself was magnificent. First came a jeweled cross held aloft by a white-clad figure. Following came a group of Swiss guards in their uniforms of red, black and yellow, designed by Michael Angelo, the men carrying halberds.

SISTINE CHOIR FOLLOWS.

Then came the Sistine choir, led by Abbe Parodi, singing as they marched, and after them ecclesiastics of all orders, priests in black, monks in brown and white, heads of religious congregations and members of the Papal Court dressed in quaint Elizabethan costumes. Behind were the cardinals of Curia, about 20 in number, all dignified and solemn. Then followed a detachment of noble guards. Directly afterward came the venerable figure of Pius X. in full pontifical robes, blessing the kneeling multitude as he passed.

When all were seated intense silence fell on the assembly, broken by the rising to their feet of the cardinals of Curia, who advanced to do homage to the pope and then to introduce into the papal presence the new princes of the church. The venerable group which now entered drew the gaze of all present.

PIELATES POINTED OUT.

The American prelates—John M. Farley, archbishop of New York; William O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, and Diomedeo Falconio, formerly apostolic delegate at Washington, were eagerly pointed out, their white robes contrasting justly with the other cardinals of the papal throne and one by one knelt before Pius X., kissing his hand and foot and receiving the papal embrace. They were then led to the places set apart for them to the accompaniment of music by the Sistine choir.

The new cardinals then again advanced separately to the foot of the throne to receive their red hats, which were held over the head of each recipient by the master of ceremonies while the pontiff repeated the usual Latin formula for such occasions after which he embraced those kneeling before him.

When the ceremony was closed the pope arose, bestowed the papal benediction on all present and withdrew with all the cardinals and others who had formed the procession, the choir singing as they went, while the cardinals, escorted with acclamation in a medley of English, Italian, French, German, Spanish and other tongues.

RETURN THANKS

Accompanying the pontiff to his apartments, the new cardinals formed a little procession of their own, proceeding to the Sistine chapel to return thanks for the honor accorded them. There the pontiff's singers intoned an Ambrosian hymn, after which the dean of the Cardinal recited the prayer of thanksgiving for the new creations. On leaving the chapel all the new cardinals were again embraced by their colleagues.

After the public had dispersed all the cardinals joined the pope in the Hall of the Consistory for a supplementary secret consistory, presided over by the head of the church, when he granted the new cardinals the privilege of participation in and speaking at meetings of the congregation, placed at the cardinal's ring on their fingers and assigned each of them to the charge of a titular church in Rome.

The titular churches assigned to the new cardinals are for the purpose

Loyal Troops Strengthen Their Positions on Purple and Tiger Hills

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—According to officers of the Shinyo Maru, which arrived here today from the orient by way of Honolulu, a wireless message was received from the flagship California of the Pacific fleet when two days out from Honolulu, saying: "Bound for Honolulu to coal and full speed to Shanghai."

The fleet, consisting of the cruisers California, South Dakota, Colorado, Maryland and West Virginia, left here on November 21 for a practice cruise to Honolulu, arriving there November 23. Rear Admiral Thomas denied at Honolulu that his fleet would cruise farther.

Officers of the Shinyo Maru expressed amazement that the reported cruise to Shanghai was not known here. Their information was that the fleet sailed under sealed orders, which were not opened until the vessels were far out at sea.

NANKING, Nov. 30.—The rebel and imperial forts, which exchanged shots from time to time during the night, opened a vigorous fire this morning. The rebel line, which is fifteen miles in length, is gradually being drawn in around Nanking for a new attack on the city.

City Anxious to Get Disqualified Voters Back on the Books.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 30.—The problem confronting Los Angeles of getting its voters disqualified through irregularities in the appointment of 107 registration clerks, back on to the register in time for the election next Tuesday, went a step nearer solution today when the bills validating the appointments were placed before the Assembly by H. H. Lyons of Los Angeles. The same measures were presented to the Senate yesterday, and it is hoped by their proponents that they will be introduced through both houses and placed in the Governor's hands in time to protect the threatened vote at the election in Los Angeles next Tuesday.

ONLY ONE HISS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—There was only one hiss last night at the third production of "The Playboy of the Western World," and that was by an electrician employed in Maxine Elliott's theater, where the play is put on. When put out he explained that he was interested and didn't mean to hiss. He was let go.

UPTON SINCLAIR IS GRANTED HIS DIVORCE

Matrimonial Bark Is Wrecked During Fierce Affinity Storm.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST WIFE ARE PROVED

Author Denies He Ever Winked at Her Intimacy With Kemp.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—William S. Kelley, Supreme Court referee, recommended yesterday that Upton Sinclair, Socialist author, be granted a decree of absolute divorce from Meta Fuller Sinclair, daughter of William M. Fuller, clerk of the General Sessions Court.

The referee's report sustains the charges made against Mrs. Sinclair after she fled from the "Back to Nature" colony that her husband helped to establish at Arden, Del., in company with Harry Kemp, the "tramp poet," intimate associate of Sinclair.

Sinclair charged that his wife and Kemp were together in boarding houses at Sea Girt and Long Branch in August last. The evidence at the trial proved this accusation.

DON'T FACE 'MONOGAMIST'

Mrs. Sinclair, who said frankly that she regarded her husband as "an essential monogamist," and longed to be free to seek her real mate, did not appear at the trial.

She filed an answer, in which she denied all the charges against her. Her attorney, H. B. Philbrook, told the referee he had done his utmost to get her to appear at the trial. She told him she had no witnesses and did not want to testify.

Philbrook strove to have the complaint dismissed on the ground that Sinclair had practically connived in the offense by failing to give his wife adequate protection.

To this contention the referee makes this reply:

"While it is true that a husband is regarded as the protector of his wife, I hardly think that the most ardent advocate of the feminine side would insist upon it that a husband devote his whole time to the protection of his wife, not only from outside assaults, but also from her own inclinations."

"AFFINITY STORMS" CAUSE "LAW." "The only weapon he is permitted to use in this enlightened age is moral suasion, a weapon of but little effect in these days of barometric depression in the marital ether, occasioned by these so-called affinity storms."

Attorney Philbrook cross-examined Sinclair closely to draw out an admission that would indicate the author's acquiescence in his wife's misconduct. But Sinclair denied that he ever winked at her intimacy with Kemp or made any agreement with her regarding a divorce.

Would You Have a Chromo on Your Wall?

Chromo manufacturers buy original paintings at thousands of dollars apiece and then turn out thousands of duplicates at about a dollar each. The reprints are worth no more than their price—they are too common. Any home can have them. They cease to possess an art value because art means an individuality. There is art in merchant tailoring because every made-to-order suit is unlike every other one. But there is no art in chromo clothes which are made up by wholesale for everybody everywhere. The man who wouldn't have a chromo on his wall shouldn't wear a chromo on his back.

"My wife once made an admission of infidelity to me concerning a man other than Kemp and I forgave her on that occasion," Sinclair said.

"TRAMP" HIS FRIEND FOR YEARS.

Sinclair was asked about his friendship for Kemp.

"Kemp has been an intimate friend of mine," he replied, "for more than three years."

"After my suspicions were aroused I ceased my relations with him entirely. When you became suspicious, what did you do?"

"I argued and protested with my wife continually. I also protested to Kemp. I made him give me his word of honor there would be no relationship between them."

It appeared from the testimony that at Arden Sinclair had two houses—a large one and a smaller one. When Kemp visited the colony Mrs. Sinclair insisted upon living in the smaller house, although she had never wanted to occupy it previous to that time.

"It was not until a long time after that I realized the significance of it," the author added.

NO QUARREL WITH POET.

"Did you quarrel with Kemp before he left Arden?"

"I had no quarrel with him," said Sinclair. "I had accepted his word that his relations with my wife were innocent. I saw him the next time at the Hotel Imperial and he was very angry."

"You were not very angry?" interposed Attorney Philbrook.

"I am not accustomed to get angry," was the suave answer.

"You had no hostile feelings toward him?" the referee persisted.

"I felt that he had deceived me and acted in a very dishonorable manner," Sinclair continued.

Ellen Burrows, stenographer to Mr. Sinclair, was called as a witness. She told of visits Kemp made to Mrs. Sinclair, when he stayed until midnight.

She said she did not approve of the visits, but could not prevent them.

"MOST BEAUTIFUL SOUL IN WORLD."

"Mrs. Sinclair told me," she testified, "that Mr. Kemp made her very happy, and as near as I can remember it she said he had the most beautiful soul in the world and that she did not want to be interfered with. They were down at the little house all through the day and until late in the evening."

Sinclair was recalled to testify that he had shadowed his wife and Kemp with a private detective and had followed them to Long Branch.

Mrs. Grace Shanti, boarding house keeper at Long Branch, identified pictures of Kemp and Mrs. Sinclair as the man and woman who rented rooms in her house. Asked if her suspicions had not been aroused, she said:

"I told my husband that they seemed too loving to be man and wife. Besides she had no wedding ring."

No mention was made in the proceedings of the young son of the Sinclairs.

TIRED OF LIFE, TRIES THE GAS ROUTE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—"I was tired of life, that is all," said D. F. Gable, a painter, 35 years old, when he was revived at the Central emergency hospital this morning. Gable had been found in a semi-conscious condition in his room at 674 Grove street.

While lying down Gable had partially opened the window and the gas had inhaled very little of it. He was restored without difficulty and has promised not to do it again.

SUFFRAGE SPLITS HARVARD UNITY

Corporation's Refusal to Allow Mrs. Pankhurst to Speak Makes Trouble.

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 30.—The refusal of the Harvard corporation to allow Mrs. Pankhurst to address the students in a college building has caused a stir in undergraduate circles. The body of students is split into two camps, suffragettes and anti-suffragettes, and influential alumni are being asked to take a hand in the controversy.

A petition has been started, praying the corporation to reverse its judgment, and the "Pro-Pankhurst party" is enrolling itself under the banner of an organization known as the Harvard Men's Equal Suffrage League, of which William T. Fisher, a junior from Chicago, is president.

STRICKEN PUGILIST'S CONDITION SATISFIES

WOLGAST HAS GOOD NIGHT

Awakens Early and Inquires After Arrangements for Fight

Fans Busy Discussing Who Is at Present the Lightweight Champion of World

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—After passing a comfortable night, Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion of the world, awoke early in his hospital bed today and eagerly asked about the arrangements concerning the program of pugilism in which he had been scheduled to defend his title in a bout with Freddie Welsh at Vernon today.

The operation which surgeons performed yesterday, following a hurried examination which resulted in their declaring only the removal of the appendix could save the champion's life, did not quell Wolgast's interest in pugilism in the least.

His nurses declared he passed a comfortable night and the champion confirmed their report. He found his greatest drawback in making himself as nearly at home as possible in a hospital bed to have been the refusal on the part of nurses and doctors to permit him to have a drink of water when he awoke from the stupor into which the anesthetics plunged him.

HEALTHY TO BLAME.

Wolgast's usual good health accounted for his ignorance of the procedure following operations, and he at first objected to going without water, but when it was explained to him that he must be denied the desired drink he met the situation with a smile.

He heard with interest that fight fans were busy to be entirely without pugilistic entertainment today. Promoter Tom McCarey had engaged Willie Ritchie, training partner for Packey McFarland, to enter the ring with Freddie Welsh. The Britisher declared he would defend the title of lightweight champion of the world, and was able to re-enter the ring, and that he then would meet Wolgast for it.

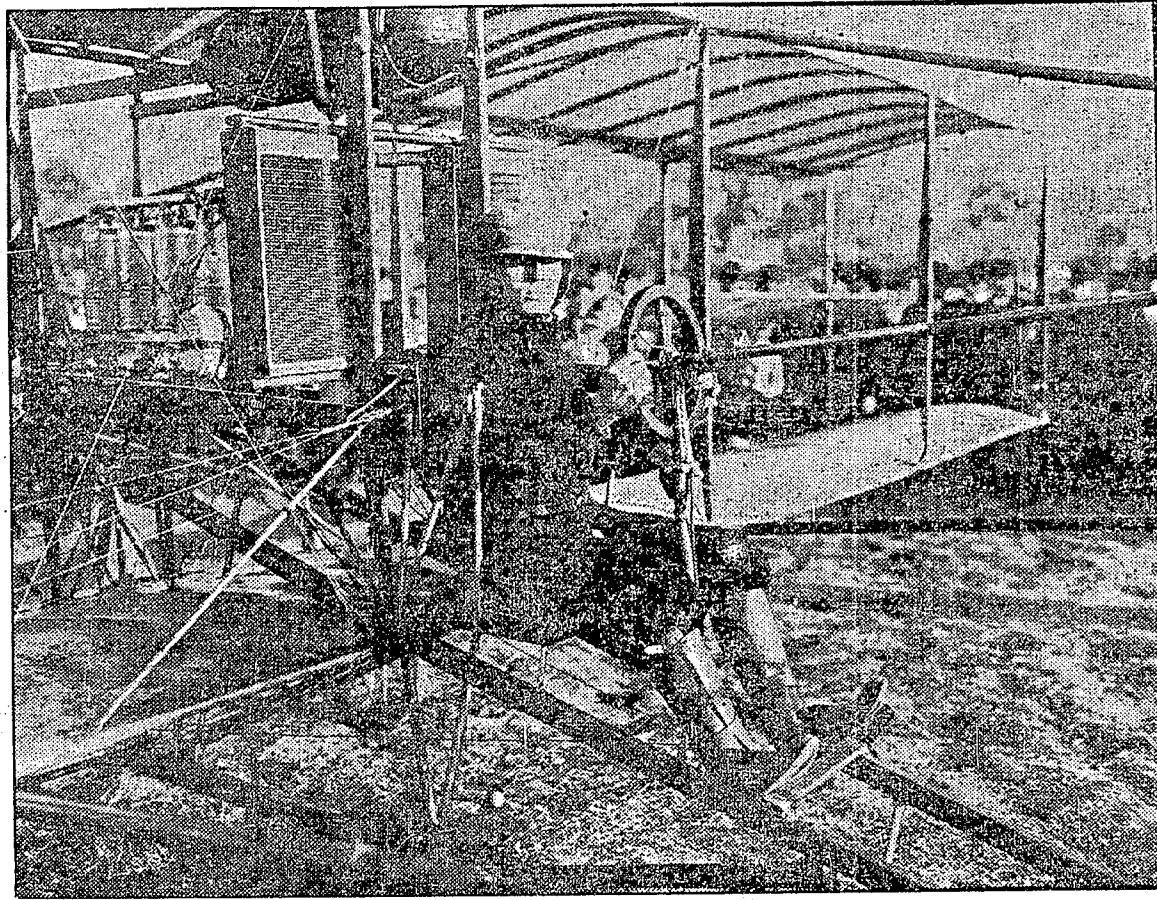

Meantime, fight fans were busy discussing who, considering Wolgast's sudden retirement from the ring, was the lightweight champion of the world. There were many opinions given by professionals as to whether Wolgast could retain his title during a possibly long convalescence or cease to be the champion when he became unable to defend the title.

WELDON COOKE TO COMPETE WITH NOTED DIDIER MASSON
OAKLAND AVIATOR TO SHOW PROWESS AT MOTORDROME

Self-Trained Birdman to Try for Records in Own Machine

(By J. A. HOULIHAN.)

Weldon Cooke, the daring young Oakland aviator who first came into prominence a few months ago, and since that period has started, with great regularity, residents about the bay, will make what is really his first public appearance at the Oakland Motordrome on Sunday. Didier Masson, the French aviator who was slated for an appearance at the fall opening of the track here, and was prevented in making the flights planned because of sudden entanglement in legal difficulties, will also attempt numerous feats in the air on the same day and at the same place.

Cooke's flight will be his first in competition with a bird man of renown and an opportunity will be presented to compare the respective merits of the two men. Masson's feats are known the world over. His maneuvers at the outbreak of the rebellion in Mexico first brought him into public eye. His flights across the border line were of a sensational order and immediately attracted country-wide attention. Masson is known on the coast by reason of his association with Paulhan at the time the latter was starting the coast with feats of wonder. With the retirement of Paulhan, Masson took up his work. Today he is virtually the champion of the world from a standpoint of experience in the country.

YOUNGEST OF PILOTS.

Weldon Cooke holds the distinction of being the youngest of the present group of prominent sky pilots. Until he made a flight from Alameda, over the city of Oakland and back again, he was regarded with the same amount of scorn as hundreds of others of the ambitious and hope-to-be's. On the day of the Standard-California football struggle he announced his intention of attending, using the air route as a means of reaching the grounds. The wind was playing pranks of a vicious nature at the time he intended starting and he was warned against making the attempt. Following his own desire he arose, started for Palo Alto and more than half completed his journey before being forced to descend at Irvington. On the next day he flew back to his training camp on the Foothill Boulevard, and since then has been in the air at least two hours every day. Cooke has not had the teaching of older and experienced aviators to guide him, neither was he favored with a machine of well known repute. He has made the entire craft, excepting alone the motor, himself.

The motordrome enclosure is an ideal spot for the holding of an aviation meet, conditions of every kind being such as to favor successful aerial attempts. Spectators in the infield will be in a position at all times to view the men in action and grandstand spectators can see the men either aloft or on the ground without difficulty.

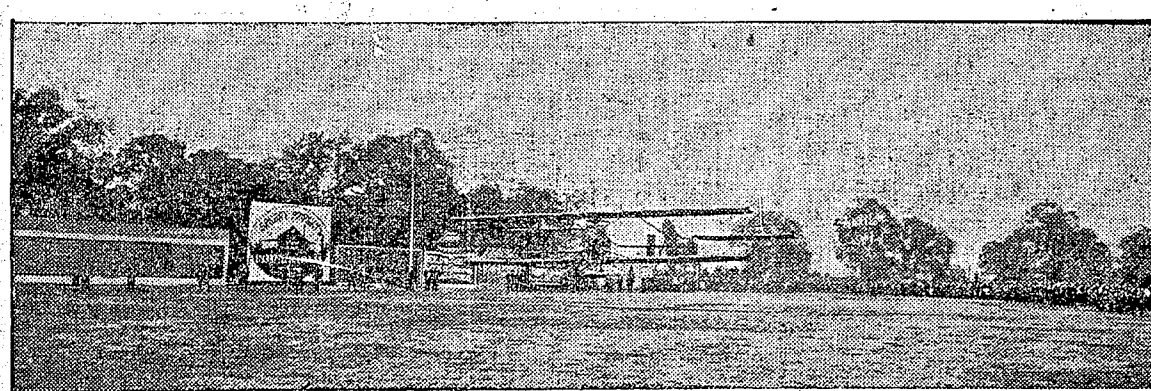

TO RACE MOTORCYCLE.

The first alrshp vs. motorcycle race to be seen in these parts will be a battle between either Masson or Cooke and Seymour or Wolters. A handicap affair it will have to be, the speed of the motorcycles being such that no bird machine made would stand a chance in a dual of that kind.

Not the least important part of the meet planned for this coming week will be the various motorcycle events.

The success of the speed of the motorcycles, judged from a racing standpoint, has started a craze for this sport which alone would undoubtedly fill the Motordrome each week.

What few riders of note are left in different parts of the country are either headed for this city or will soon be en route. Seymour will have his new racing marvel here tomorrow and he will immediately repair to the track with it, there to prepare for another comb at with Wolters, lately crowned the Speed King.

Weldon B. Cooke, the sensational young Oakland aviator, and the air craft he will pilot over the Motordrome on Sunday. Lower picture shows Cooke in the air during a recent spectacular flight made at Stockton with the same air craft he will use on Sunday.

BARRICADED MURDERER GIVES BATTLE TO DEATH

Defies Dynamite and Shot, but Kills Himself When Torch Is Applied to Shed in Which He Is Hiding

SAN JOSE, Nov. 30.—After trying to murder his wife and killing another woman, John Karso barricaded himself in a shack and held it for hours last night before cheating the law and killing himself with a shotgun.

Karso exchanged more than a hundred shots with peace officers and remained barricaded in his entrenchment in defiance of dynamite and ignited gasoline. When the police and deputies of the sheriff's department led to adopt the mode of Indian warfare by driving him from his retreat by fire, Karso was shot and recovered his head was blown off. The wife of the murderer has fled with her two children. Officers have been unable to locate the woman.

When the torch was finally applied to the gasoline-drenched shack and the flames began to crackle in the night the crowd was tremulous with tension as it waited for Karso to appear like a coon smoked from his hole. Three shots were fired by Karso, disappointed the gathering, however, for he raised the shotgun to his head and killed himself while the burning shack was illuminating the sky.

Karso's body was burned to a crisp in the fire, which had to be extinguished by the fire department. He had provided more excitement, trouble and anxiety, in fact, than any lone fugitive recently pursued by Santa Clara detectives. Karso, who was a middle-aged man, shot and killed Mrs. Lena Blatz, a neighbor, following a futile effort to murder his wife and two children.

The shooting began after a quarrel between Karso and his wife as to which of them should support the force. Karso was fired by Karso at his wife, who succeeded in fleeing from the house and making her escape.

KILLS WOMAN INSTANTLY.
Mrs. Blatz, who lived next door to the Karso's, saw Karso as he was leaving the house. When the man noticed her she then fired at him. Karso, who was trying to prevent his escape, raised the shotgun he was carrying, Karso shot the bullets twice. Karso then began firing at the officers as soon as they appeared and tried to drive him from his entrenchment.

Karso several times fired upon Chief of Police Kidder and Sheriff Langford, but the bullets went wild. One shot narrowly missed Captain of Detectives Starbird, striking a fence behind him. Shots then began ringing out in reply from the rifles of two officers. The boy, who was a middle-aged man, shot and killed Mrs. Lena Blatz, a neighbor, following a futile effort to murder his wife and two children.

Kansas Has Not Spoken Since Little Daughters Lost Lives.

Children Killed When Sand Pit Playhouse Caves in On Them.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 30.—Grief over the loss of his two little daughters, Ethel and Floesie, who were killed Sunday when their sand-pit playhouse, caved in, caused Andrew Hutchinson of Kansas City, Kan., to lose his power of speech.

Hutchinson, a well-digger, suffered from an injury several years ago and for the last year has worked only a small part of the time. When the cave-in occurred he ran to the sand-pit and looked at the bodies of his daughters. He did not return for an hour, but sat on a pile of rails and gazed at the heap of sand. He has been mute ever since, and physicians fear he will never speak again.

Several years ago another child of Hutchinson's was drowned in the Kaw river just above the sand-pit.

DIVES THROUGH ELEVATOR WINDOW

Letter Carrier Mangled and Cut in Peculiar Accident.

Caught in Lift He Is Hurled Heavily to the Stone Pavement.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—His clothing caught in an elevator, William Herran, a letter carrier, was hurled through a plate glass window and thrown heavily upon a concrete floor this morning. He suffered a broken ankle, a fractured thigh and possibly internal injuries. Herran is a substitute and has been working on the district comprising the First National bank building, at Market, Post and Montgomery streets. He had entered the corridor this morning just as the operator was starting the elevator.

"Wait a minute," he called, and before there was time for a warning he had sprung through the half-closed door into the car. His mail sack he held in front of him and evidently his clothing did not get quite clear, as he was caught on the upper track on which the door runs, held tightly and then hurled with tremendous force against the pane of glass, which cut his body and almost severed his ankle.

DROPPED ONTO FLOOR.

His body was thrown on the stone corridor and he fell dazed in a pool of blood among a hail of shattered glass. The elevator operator had stopped his machine and the watchman in the bank and several other persons rushed to the aid of the stricken man.

It happened that the Harbor ambulance, carrying a patient, was passing the elevator when it was struck and in a few seconds Herran was at the hospital and being treated by Dr. Cherry.

An examination showed that it may be possible to save his right ankle and that his body was cut and torn in many places by the glass. He is scarcely out of his teens and resides with his family at 160 Hancock street.

PRANTIKAS CALM UNDER CHARGES

Slayer of Policemen Castor and Fennelly Hears Indictment With Indifference.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The indictment returned by the grand jury charging Prantikas with murder for the killing of Policemen Castor and Fennelly, was read to the prisoner in his cell at the city prison this morning. Prantikas, with the usual stolidity of the Greek, is without emotion and although prone to comprehend the fate that is in store for him, he shows no signs of collapse and is calm and indifferent, contenting himself only with an occasional pacing back and forth in his narrow cell. This afternoon Prantikas will be removed to the county jail as he is under the jurisdiction of the Superior Court. He will be brought before the coroner's jury for the inquest and thereafter will be immediately placed on trial before the Superior Court for the double murder of which he stands accused.

BEATEN AND ROBBED ON BARBARY COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Beaten and robbed by thugs on the Barbary coast where he had wandered in search of amusement, this morning Frank Vala, of Sacramento, was taken to the Harbor Hospital, where he has been temporarily residing at 184 Valencia street, out to see the sights, and encountered a man who he believes was one of those who attacked him. He was given two black eyes and a badly lacerated scalp and robbed of $26.

TURKEY DINNER FOR COUNTY PRISONERS

Dr. Lyman, H. Robert Sinclair Moore and Others Are Guests.

Prisoners Enjoy National Bird With All of Its Fixings.

Sheriff Frank Barnett served a sumptuous old-fashioned turkey dinner at noon today to the sixty-four prisoners confined in the County Jail in honor of Thanksgiving Day. The feast was given to the inmates in their cells, after the usual manner of serving meals, and consisted of eighty pounds of fine turkeys grown in Alameda county, together with cranberry sauce, celery, mince and apple pie, good coffee and all the other "fixings" essential to a complete Thanksgiving dinner. The prisoners were allowed to have all the turkey they could eat and to each was served half a mince or apple pie, according to their individual desires. Hardy Lewis, formerly a Pullman cook, who has appealed from a judgment of seven years in the penitentiary for manslaughter, prepared the meal. It was served under the supervision of Deputy Jailers Sam Vander Voort and B. P. Bull and Matron White.

ONE WOMAN GUEST.

There was but one woman prisoner to partake of the dinner. She is Anna Jordan, colored, whose trial in the criminal department of the Superior Court for assault with a deadly weapon, was interrupted about a week ago on account of the illness of one of the jurors sitting in her case. Three members of the gigantic smuggling ring just unearthed by federal secret agents were delivered at the County Jail this noon just in time for them to get their share of the dinner. They are Captain James Wright and Engineer Reynold Scott of the gasoline launch Comrade, seized at Monterey last Sunday night, and Antonio Felix, who will be taken to Los Angeles for appearance in the federal court there.

The most distinguished federal prisoner to partake of Alameda county's bounty, however, was Dr. J. Grant Lyman, the renowned financier, whose escapades before and after his arrest have filled columns of the newspapers. The doctor ate heartily of the good things Sheriff Barnett provided and also of a large box of seasonable dainties sent to him from San Francisco by Attorney Carroll Cook, one of his lawyers. Lyman also received during the morning an unsigned telegram from New York, in which the sender expressed the hope that next Thanksgiving day would find the prisoner in more pleasant circumstances.

MOORE EATS DINNER.

H. Robert Sinclair Moore, whose recent trial in the criminal department of the Superior Court for robbing Walter Bentzen of $700 at a spiritualist seance the former conducted resulted in his being sentenced by Judge William C. Hall to serve seven years in the penitentiary at San Quentin, passed an uneventful day. He ate the dinner served to him with relish, but aside from receiving visits from a couple of men friends, so far as the celebration of Thanksgiving was concerned, he showed no interest.

The prisoners were allowed to remain in the corridors of the jail all day to mingle with each other, without restraint, the privilege and the dinner were greatly appreciated by the inmates and there was not the slightest infraction of rules to mar the celebration of the holiday.

PLAN TO CELEBRATE START OF FAIR WORK

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—There is a possibility that the Panama-Pacific Exposition company will arrange a celebration when the actual work of construction begins, this morning by the month. It is fairly certain that the company of surveyors will have completed of operations before January 1, 1912, some ceremonies, it is thought, would be fitting, when the actual work begins.

When once a gang of men is put to work there will be no cessation but the force will be gradually increased and soon the buildings will begin to rise, and the 1915 fair seem a reality.

UNKNOWN MAN OF 60 ENDS LIFE WITH ACID

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—An unidentified man, apparently a laborer, was found dead in a room at 451 Washington street, this morning by a slow-moving carbolic acid. The Harbor hospital was told that the case was merely one of suicide and it was not until the steward arrived and it was not until the condition of the patient was learned.

A hurried trip was made to the hospital and the stomach pump used, but the man died within an hour. He was apparently about 60 years old, with gray hair and mustache and of medium height and build.

ONLY ONE PATIENT TO ENJOY TURKEY

There was but one patient at the Receiving Hospital to enjoy the Thanksgiving turkey and side delicacies. Matron Hughes prepared by direction of the Board of Supervisors. He occupies a room in the detention ward on a charge of insanity.

'ANTI-FORTY-FIVE' MEETING CROWDED

Enthusiasts Opposed to That Age Limit for Working Men Overflow Hall.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20. — When the first regular meeting of the "Anti 45 Limited League" was called to order yesterday, and today, in West Side hall, there were so many present that some had to stand up. Such interest is being shown to prevent men of this age and over from being refused employment that the officers had to find more spacious quarters. Members favored an inquiry into the authority of the city civil service commission to fix an age limit in the civil service regulations. They also announced that there would be no color line.

J. H. Lawrence, a negro from Indianapolis, who said he was a classmate of former United States Senator Beveridge at Paw Paw University, asked that the league recognize the members of his race.

"You have a great idea behind this league," he said, "but it won't be a success unless you recognize the brotherhood of men."

Captain W. P. Black announced that the league had been formed in the interest of all men willing and able to work.

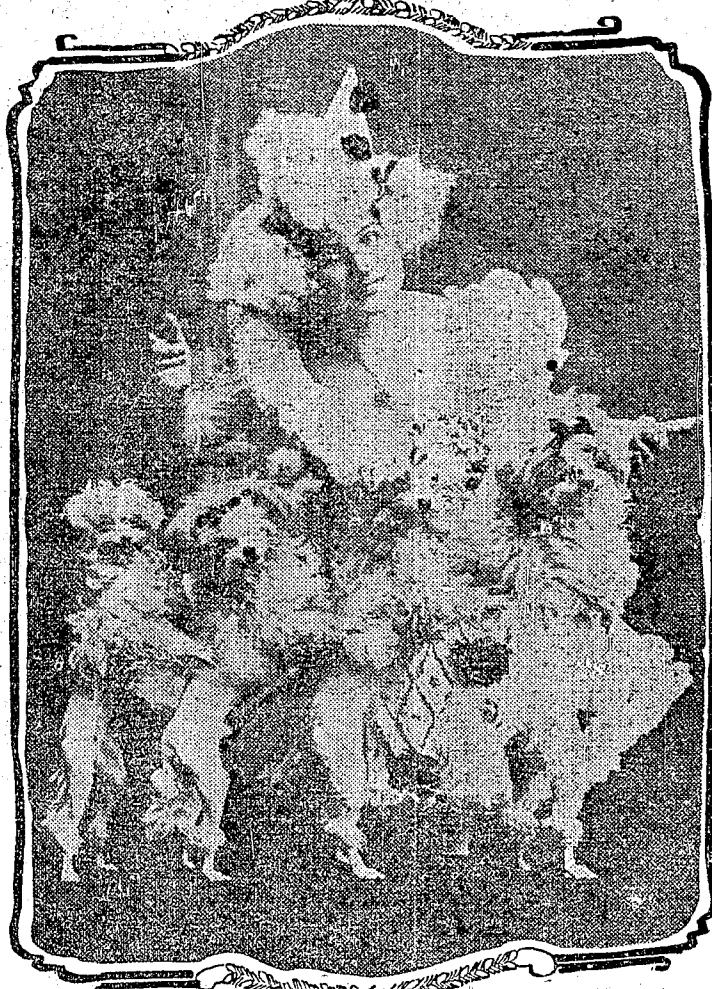

GOTHAM'S CHINESE COOKS MAY STRIKE

The Chop Suey Restaurants Threatened With Walk Out of Orientals.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30. — On the heels of the successful Chinese revolution in China, the Chinese cooks in New York under the leadership of Dr. Sen Yat Smith threaten to begin a strike which will tie up every chop suey restaurant in the city. Their ultimatum demands a new scale of wages and shorter hours. Four hundred Chinese cooks are affiliated with the organization, which asks the restaurant men to sign an agreement as follows:

"Hereby understood by all people concerned: The cook of Chinese foods is to work for only 12 hours each day and on the seventh day likewise. He must get payment every Saturday night of $8, $10 and may be more. He must get rest two days each four weeks. On Chinese New Year to celebrate all day. Must have place to sleep, not too much."

MME. FIFTY RONAY'S DOGS DELIGHT 'KIDS' AT BELL

MME. FIFTY RONAY, who is delighting big audiences at the Bell theater this week.

There will always be a place in vaudeville for reputable animal acts, first, because children are perhaps more given to admiration of the little canines than they are to other acts. This is due perhaps to the fact that most every dog has a dog or a cat as a playmate. And children seem to understand animals far better than grown-ups. Mme. Fifty Ronay has a troupe of the most wonderful performing dogs in vaudeville and they are at the Bell Theater now. All are French poodles, many of which have taken prizes at dog shows in both Paris and London. Patrons of the Bell are finding Mme. Fifty Ronay's Poodle Troupe one of the very cleverest dog acts that has found its way over the circuit.

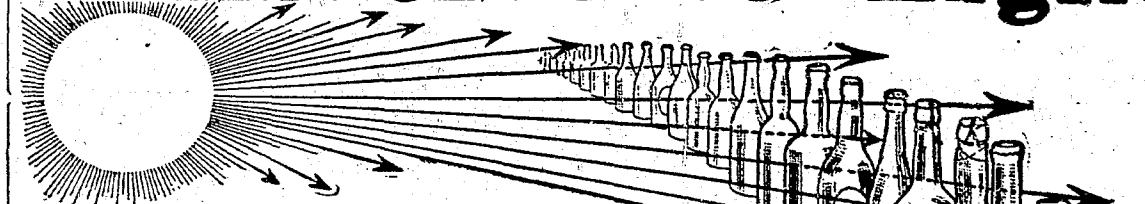

George A. Beane, who will be remembered as the "funny" Sultan in Henry Savage's "Sultan of Zulu" is among the stellar attractions this week. It is Beane's initial vaudeville appearance in many years, and his forsaking the legitimate for vaudeville is received with much favor. He offers a farce, "The Show Girl," which gives him opportunity for portraying a character of "The aged farmer" who has advertised for a wife, and which permits of no end of bright comedy. The action is swift, the dialogue clever, with just a touch of pathos, and a splendid moral is brought out.

Powder & Capman were found in the support of Eddie Foy in "The Orchid." Mr. Powder is an exceptionally clever delineator of con songs and is equally proficient in German, Swedish and Italian character work. Their offering at the Bell consists of singing, dancing with a generous mixture of smart conversation. Will Oakland, whom all the world knows through the medium of his wonderful photograph records is the star of the Blue Ribbon Show. It is a delight seldom accorded one to hear these sweet songs of yesterday rendered in such surpassing voice as is the case in Will Oakland's excellent repertoire.

Marie Dorr, a lithe, winsome little miss is heard in some original oddities of her own creation. She possesses a mellow sympathetic face and figure. New by an attractive face and figure. New York, Boston, Chicago and other large cities have voted Marie Dorr one of the brightest recruits of the vaudeville stage.

Then the Brothers Byrne, in knock-out pantomime comedy elicit the big applause and the laughs of the week in their strenuous farcical oddity, "A Carriage Ride and its Mishaps."

SEEK WRECK OF BIG LAKE VESSEL

Steamer Jay Gould Believed to Have Been Broken Up in Great Storm.

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Nov. 30. — That some vessel was lost in the fierce storm of Tuesday on Lake Superior is the theory of marine men here, from the reports of wreckage off Vermillion Point.

The steamers Wipon and Mueller arrived last night and reported passing through large quantities of short timber. Some think the unfortunate steamer is the Jay Gould, which is said to have had a cargo of short timber and has not yet been reported.

If reports are confirmed, it will add another boat to the long list which has found a resting place in that section known as the "graveyard of the lakes." For in the neighborhood of White Fish and Vermillion more boats have been lost than any other place on the lakes.

Herbs and Flowers Cure Catarrh

A Safe, Simple, Reliable Remedy Which Costs Nothing to Try.

You need not suffer from catarrh, bronchitis, lingering colds or other catarrhal troubles. After years of research and experiment Dr. Blosser discovered a compound of herbs, leaves and flowers which by a unique method is applied to every nook and corner of the mucous membrane in the head, nose, throat and lungs.

Any sufferer, after giving it a trial, can readily see why it is so greatly superior to such ordinary treatments as sprays, ointments, salves, liquid or tablet medicines, because all these do not and cannot reach all the affected parts, while Dr. Blosser's method reaches every part; and this explains, at least in part, the wonderful success with which it is meeting. The full size package costs but one dollar. It is harmless, pleasant to use, and is easily applied even by a child.

No matter how deep-seated your catarrh may be, no matter how long it has troubled you, no matter if other remedies have failed; you should give this treatment a trial, and it will do for you what it has done for thousands of other sufferers. Write at once to Dr. J. W. Blosser, 719 Walton street, Atlanta, Ga., in order to avail yourself of his offer for a free trial package of the remedy and an illustrated booklet which gives all the facts about catarrh. It is not necessary to send any money—simply send your name and address.

SHERIFF JAILS BANDIT SUSPECTS

Two Men Held for Robbery of Stage Coach Saturday at Drain, Ore.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Nov. 30. — Charged with being the bandits who held up a stage coach near Drain Saturday last, Edward Jurgins and Fred Foster, were arrested by Sheriff Quinn and Deputy Sheriff Stewart, at the home of Jurgins' mother, nine miles from here.

The sheriff learned today that two men answering the description of the robbers had been seen at a local livery stable Sunday and drove toward the Jurgins' ranch. Going to the ranch, Quinn and his deputy saw Jurgins and Foster disappear into the house and it was only after the residence had been thoroughly searched that they were found.

Eighty dollars, including a marked $5 gold piece and two automatic pistols similar to those described by passengers in the robbed coach, were found on the young men. The marked gold piece answers the description of one taken from one of the passengers.

According to the sheriff, when questioned the boys admitted having registered as E. W. Wilson and H. Jones on a recent visit to Portland. Two men registered under these names at a Drain hotel the night before the hold up.

MODESTO WANTS TO GET COLLEGE

Dr. Guth and Rolla V. Watt Enter Campaign to Secure Necessary Funds.

MODESTO, Nov. 30. — Dr. Guth, president of the College of the Pacific of San Jose; Rolla V. Watt of San Francisco, trustee of the college; Bishop Hughes of San Francisco and Dr. Briggs of San Francisco, field agent for the college, were in Modesto Tuesday in the interest of a statewide campaign they have started to raise a large endowment fund for the college.

They explained their plan at a luncheon attended by thirty former students of the college. Henry G. Turner, a grain merchant of this city, proposed that the college be moved to Modesto and invited the citizens of this city would offer a substantial inducement to bring about such a result.

As the result of the meeting a College of the Pacific Association was formed, and L. L. Dennison, who presided, appointed J. W. Hushard, Dr. G. B. Husted and C. E. Camp, a committee to perfect the organization.

WILKERSON HEARS CLANK OF CHAINS

District Attorney Declares We Are Threatened With Abject Slavery.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30. — "Great combinations of industry are threatening our country with a worse slavery than that which our fathers have driven from the land."

These were the opening words of United States District Attorney James H. Wilkerson last night in a speech before the Illinois St. Andrew society at its annual banquet. Wilkerson took the place on the program of Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel, who was unable to attend.

"The defense of these combinations that are stifling competition," he continued, "is that they serve to effect economy of production and cheapen prices."

"If economy is to be secured through the sacrifice of the independent business man, it is too great a price to pay. If cheapness of products is secured at such a price, it would be better that the great inventions of Watt, Morse and Edison had withered in their brains."

"We boast of our enormous resources. If we are not careful these resources will be our undoing. The mines will be our slave pits, the railroads will be the bonds of our slavery, the whirl and clang of the mills will be the noise of the lash and the clanking of our chains."

'BE GRATEFUL FOR OUR GIFTS'

Rev. Levi Gregory Preaches at Union Service at Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Levi Gregory, pastor of Friends' Church, preached at the union services in the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church this morning. He said, in part:

"I have long believed in Thanksgiving day and Thanksgiving services. We feel better when we are thankful for blessings received, and it is certainly pleasing to the giver to be assured that we appreciate the thing received. While on the other hand, ingratitude is shriveling; it not only makes you look small to the other party, but some how you feel miserable with yourself."

"If we should be thankful to our friends for the favors and gifts they give, how much more should we express our appreciation of the watch-care, the love, the bounty and blessing the Almighty God bestows upon us. I fully believe that life is glad for our gratitude and is pleased with our thanksgiving."

"My text may seem strong in its expression, 'In everything give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you.' But it is not too strong. We are apt to look on the dark side that we need a strong lift, a real surprise to get us to see things as we should."

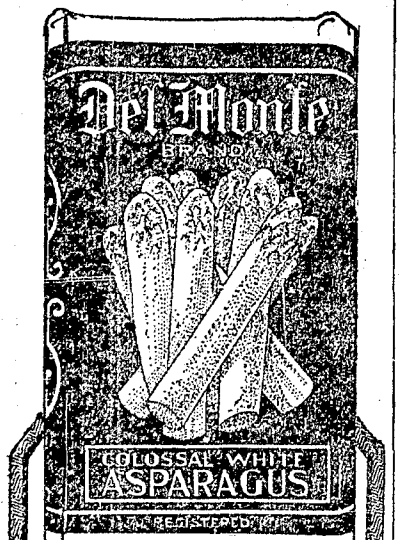

"So I would earnestly ask that we look up, not down, count our blessings, forget our sorrows and not only for this bright Thanksgiving day but truly thankful, but each day may we live that the world will be better for our having lived."

THANKSGIVING DAY IS OBSERVED WITH SACRED SONG AND SERMON

Congregations Hold Union Services

Prominent local pastors who took a leading part in today's Thanksgiving services.

Hundreds of parishioners of the churches of this city attended the union Thanksgiving services held this morning in the different houses of worship throughout Oakland. The significance of the day was defined in the sermons delivered by the leading clergymen of this county while the spirit of the festival was carried out in the free-will offerings which will be distributed to the poor.

In many of the local churches Thanksgiving services were held last evening, when men, women and children made gifts to the worthy.

REV. SIMS PREACHES. The church-goers of Central Oakland congregated at the union Thanksgiving services held last evening, in Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, thirty-fourth and Market streets, where Rev. W. J. Sims, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, south, delivered the sermon. He said:

"I wish to call your attention to the familiar words of the Psalmist to his people, as a nation: 'O give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good, for His mercy endureth forever.'"

"The observance of Thanksgiving day is a confession of the nation's faith and an expression of its gratitude."

"Ours is a Christian country and must not be separated from its providential past. When Columbus made his missionary voyage to the new world he claimed for the Kings of Kings the land where the last effort of divine providence in behalf of the human race was to be made. When the Jamestown colony stepped ashore, minister administered the holy sacrament."

"Again Benjamin Franklin moved that prayers be made every morning before proceeding to write our constitution, and as a result we have the greatest production of the human mind since the Ten Commandments were written. So ours is a Christian history; the very foundation of our government was laid in faith and prayer to Almighty God."

"It is meet, therefore, that we should call attention to some of the providential favors to our nation."

"First, Our geographical situation distinguishes us above other nations. Take a map of the globe, mark the outline of our country, our states, their relative position and striking features of tillable lands, plain, mountains and our mineral resources."

"Second, Our domain, three and one-half million square miles, nineteen million acres; our temperate zone, our navigable streams, our network of railways, our modern facilities of telephone and telegraph and cable service, together with our Marconi stations; our extensive sea coast, favoring foreign trade and intercourse."

"Third, Our unoccupied lands furnish outlet for the restless element in our social and commercial life that would otherwise occasion trouble, even internal eruption. The Mormons would have given us much trouble had there been no Utah."

"Fourth, Our status of liberty finding like angel of welcome with outstretched hands, welcome our country open to all liberty-loving people."

"Fifth, Our political life offers to each citizen the highest honors; the mule driver and the rail-splitter may become president."

"Sixth, We are now one people. This Republican form of government which we enjoy is the honor badge of successive struggles. East, west, south and north are loyal to our flag."

"Seventh, Ours is a country of religious freedom. Our Lord said: 'If the son shall make you free ye shall be free indeed.' From humble cottage to the palace of the rich, men and families gather in holy worship and none molested."

Joint ceremonies were held in the First Methodist Episcopal church today, where the choir of that church gave a special musical program and representative ministers of six churches of Oakland took part in the services. Members of the following congregations occupied the pews: First Methodist Episcopal, First Unitarian, United Presbyterian, First Christian and First Baptist.

"CHRISTIAN FLAG." The sermon was delivered by Rev. Wallace Nutting, who has been supplying the pulpit of the First Congregational church of this city.

"No little warm discussion has arisen over the question whether this is a Christian nation. Such discussion is useless. A nation is Christian just so far as its people are Christian; no more, no less."

"The nation may formally be Christian, but it is much in the condition of the man whose son said, when asked, 'Yes, father's a Christian, but he's not working at it now.' Some think a Christian nation won't work. But it is our business, whatever of mingled good and bad there is in the nation, to make it a working Christian nation."

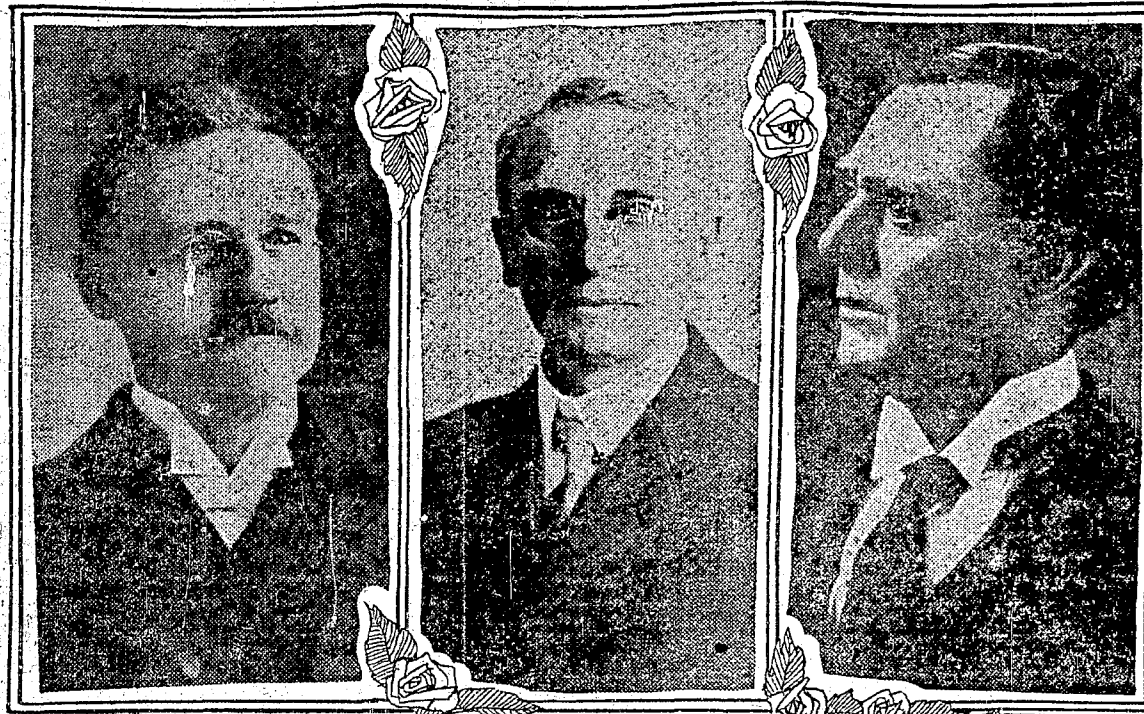

"We may as well say at once that if Christianity won't work it is not Christianity. And if it won't work, we don't want it. But has Christianity ever been tried honestly and thoroughly, on a large scale? Why, even a poor sort of religion will work if it is well applied in a nation. There were enough good elements in the religion of early Rome to ensure much honor and great permanence. The same may be said of China and Turkey. If a moderately good religion, open to grave objections, will work for a long time, what would be the success of Christianity were it once adopted in its glorious entirety?"

ETERNAL TRUTHS. "Nay, I would willingly undertake to show, did the time admit, that every element of good in any religion is also in the religion of Jesus; and therefore that all the strength in any nation is derived from that portion of eternal truth inherent in God which that nation possessed."

"We have heard it said that Christianity has failed. Where? When? Will anybody mention a single instance, anywhere, at any time in history, where Christianity has failed? If I could find such an instance I would never occupy a pulpit again."

"Who is he that overcometh the world but he that believeth in the Son of God? Have you heard anybody say that Christianity failed in John Bunyan, or John Knox, or John Wesley, or John the beloved? If anybody thinks Christianity failed in them let him stand up to display his ignorance of history and his blindness of heart. You might as well say the sunset was a failure because you did not see it."

"Yes, Christianity conquers where tried. They that thirst for righteousness are filled. The first nation that adopts Jesus bodily by a majority of its people will become a beacon, a banner, a beatitude, for the whole world. And in the name of our God we will set up that banner! We will triumph in that victory."

"If you ever triumphed at all you triumphed in Christ. The only victory that will be remembered is a moral victory and Jesus was past master in moral victories."

"On this Thanksgiving day, therefore, we observe that the light is on and the victory is ours and therefore we rejoice and in His name we set up our banners."

"We want a Christian flag, because that is the only one that can permanently fly over a nation. The dragon flag must go down. Everything but the Christian flag has been tried. It has worked with individuals. It will work with nations."

Rev. Burton M. Palmer, pastor of the Fruitvale Congregational church, was the speaker at the union services held today in the Fruitvale Congregational church, where the Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal and Christian churches of Fruitvale joined the prayers.

Impressive union services were held in the Emmanuel Presbyterian church this morning, when the soloists of the church gave a special musical program. Rev. Levi Gregory, pastor of Friends' Church gave the address entitled, "Thanksgiving."

The East Oakland Churches celebrated Thanksgiving in the Tenth Avenue Baptist Church, where the scriptural passages were read by preachers of the various parishes of that district. An elaborate musical program was furnished by the Tenth Avenue Baptist church choir. Rev. H. J. Winsor, pastor of the Eighth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, preached.

AT ST. JOHN'S. Holy communion was celebrated in St. John's church at 3 o'clock this morning and at 10 o'clock a short sermon was delivered by Rev. Edgar F. Geo, rector.

Rev. B. Franklin, vicar of the Good Samaritan Church, Ninth and Oak streets, conducted the devotions today in the chapel and preached the following sermon:

"Give thanks. No words came more appropriately to honor this day of thanksgiving, and no sentiment more noble than gratitude thrills the soul. To be thankless argues us dull of intellect and cold of heart, for we are always receiving innumerable benefits."

"The beauties and wonders of Nature with its seed time and harvest more kindly as men better learn the laws that govern; the realm of wisdom more explored, and secrets heretofore unknown bringing the train of blessings. All benefits mediated to us through Nature or men; benefits physical, mental, moral, spiritual, each in its own degree, demand from us worthy praise and honest thanksgiving."

"Give thanks. For herein is the 'stump of the tree' that is grateful to the soil. Complaints are bound to shrivel up; not merely so that we become disagreeable companions whom acquaintances shun; but even we can hardly bear to live with ourselves. And that because murmurs both express and intensify the evils of a totally wrong attitude toward life; the attitude of one who supposes that everything worthy centers in his being, who thinks everyone should serve him, who receives things as his right. One, in a word, who does not perceive that benefits always entail reciprocal obligations—that benefits are given for worthy use."

"Gratitude enlarges the vision, increases the joy, multiplies the power of life, because first of all it is practical acknowledgment of the duties which blessings involve. And as gratitude finds expression in thankful words and deeds, we become more and capable of more."

"Give thanks unto God, whatever we have vision enough to trace blessings to their ultimate source in Him, still we do have unfailing instincts that are rays from the Light which lighteth every man, and which point to this truth: Every good gift cometh from the Father. And we are inadequately reading life if at the end we cannot say, 'I have seen God's hand through a life time, and all was for good.' Give thanks unto God, this Thanksgiving day."

'SPIRIT OF DAY' IS SERMON THEME

Rev. W. W. Case Preaches On Thanksgiving Observance at Methodist Church.

Rev. Westwood W. Case, pastor of the Shattuck Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, preached a Thanksgiving sermon last Sunday morning before a large congregation. He spoke in part as follows: "Nehemiah VIII—10. Then he said unto them, Go your way, eat the fat, and drink the sweet, and send portions unto them for whom nothing is prepared: for this day is holy unto our Lord: neither be ye sorry, for the joy of the Lord is your strength."

The Israelites were assembled to keep the feast of trumpets, Ezra, assisted by other priests, read the law, and expounded it. Upon hearing the solemn message, the assembly was melted to tears. This sorrow, however, was unseasonable, and improper, and likely to injure the service in which they were engaged.

Nehemiah, Ezra and the Levites, who taught the people, entreated them to recollect that not only the judgments they deserved, but the mercies they had received. They said: "This day is holy unto the Lord your God; mourn not weep, for the joy of the Lord is your strength."

My subject is "The Spirit of Thanksgiving." Our text fully illuminates the subject. It is the model for all thanksgiving proclamations.

TRUE SPIRIT OF DAY. The true spirit of Thanksgiving Day is now as then a religious spirit.

The Pilgrim fathers after the gathering of their first harvest on New England shores, observed a day of public thanksgiving, called together by their first chief magistrate, Governor Bradford, whose proclamation shows a profound religious spirit.

Thus in our early history God's people emphasized the necessity for grateful acknowledgments to God for the bounties of His providence, and for His abundant mercies.

Their appreciation of divine gifts was quite unlike that of those of whom the cynic speaks when he says "their gratitude is a lively sense of favors expected." Theirs was a heartfelt sense of favors received.

A minister in the east, prominent in his day, always chose his texts for Thanksgiving sermons from the book of Lamentations. It was in bad taste. This day does not call for the Dead March in Saul, but rather for the Hallelujah chorus. It is not the time to listen to the "Blind Heralds of Despair," but rather to listen to the song of the angels, "Good will to men."

WASHINGTON OBSERVED SPIRIT. Coming down to modern times, we notice in that first thanksgiving proclamation by the father of his country, that Washington recognized the religious spirit of the day set apart for thanksgiving. He said: "For blessings national and individual, it is our duty as a people, with devout reverence and affectionate gratitude to acknowledge our many great obligations to Almighty God, and implore Him to continue and confirm the blessings we experience."

The spirit of the day in those times was certainly religious. Second, the spirit of Thanksgiving day is a patriotic spirit.

REAL PATRIOTISM STRONG. Perhaps it was more so in the early days of our history than at present, but probably real patriotism has not declined.

If Old Glory were to be insulted, there are millions of noble souls who would resent it even unto death. If necessary, But third, the spirit of this day is also a festive spirit.

The oldest inhabitant cannot remember the time when Thanksgiving day was not a day for the home-coming of the distant members of the family, when Dulce domum, Sweet Home, was not the keynote of their song.

This is the day to put out of sight and sound so far as possible every cause of gloom and sadness; to bring to the fore every occasion for rejoicing and gratitude. It is a time to forgive all who have offended us, to declare old enmities, to look about for somebody to help and comfort, to bind more closely the ties of friendship and to take time to give special thought concerning the infinite goodness of our divine benefactor."

It is a set time for family gatherings in the home and around the table, a time for renewed and vigorous attacks upon turkey.

Thanksgiving has a different atmosphere about it from all other festivals. In its best spirit it is the tribute of individual hearts to God, but it takes into consideration the home, the state and the nation. With joyful lips and glad hearts, and devout ascriptions of praise to our Father in heaven we say, all hail Thanksgiving day, November thirty, nineteen hundred and eleven.

CATHOLICS HOLD SIMPLE SERVICES

Short Sermons Are Delivered at Low Masses During Today's Ceremonies.

While the exercises at the various Roman Catholic churches in this city were of a simple nature today, they partook fully of the spirit of Thanksgiving. The ceremonies consisted of low masses and short sermons.

A mass of thanksgiving was celebrated by the Rev. Father E. P. Dempsey, pastor of St. Mary's church, Eighth and Jefferson streets, this morning. A short address on the significance of Thanksgiving, its origin and history, were delivered by Father Dempsey, who closed with an invocation for the happiness and peace of all mankind during the forthcoming year. A choir of fifty children, who attend the parochial schools, rendered the "Te Deum" and number of hymns. Devotional exercises will be held this evening, commencing at 7:45 o'clock.

MASS AT ST. FRANCIS DE SALES. The St. Francis de Sales church on Grove street was the scene of low mass, devoid of ostentation or pomp, at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. Father P. J. Keane, administrator of the parish, officiated as celebrant.

Rev. Father Lawrence Serda conducted the 7 o'clock services at the Sacred Heart church, Fortieth and Grove streets. Rev. Father Thomas Smith, a recent arrival from Ireland, officiated at the 8:30 o'clock services.

The morning sermon at St. Joseph's Portuguese church in West Oakland was delivered by Rev. Father Joseph Galli, the pastor. Rev. Father Henry Ferrel will deliver the sermon this evening.

Rev. J. B. McNally, pastor of St. Patrick's church, delivered brief sermons at the 7 and 8:30 o'clock services. There will be benedictions at the evening service.

Rev. Father Owen Laoy, pastor of St. Leo's church, Ridgeway and Piedmont avenues, conducted today's services. Two Jesuit priests, Fathers Thomas Mcagher and Vincent Chiland, both recent arrivals from Portland, spoke in the morning and will preach again this evening.

AT ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH. At St. Anthony's church in East Oakland, Rev. Father Peter C. Yorke celebrated mass at 8 o'clock. There was special music by the church choir.

At St. Elizabeth's church, Fruitvale, Father Hildephonse read the sermon at the 8 o'clock mass. Masses were also celebrated at the same hour by Father Kieley of St. Louis' church, Elmhurst, and Father Powell at St. Bernard's, Melrose.

The most elaborate ceremony in the Catholic churches took place at St. Leander's in San Leandro, where Father Garvey conducted a special high mass at 9 o'clock. Special music was furnished by the choir.

Nine o'clock masses were also celebrated by Father Vladamot at All Saints' church, Hayward, and by Father O'Berneau of the Centerville Catholic church.

HELEN NIELSEN HOME; MISSING TWO DAYS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30. — After leaving her family nonplussed as to her whereabouts, Miss Helen Nielsen, a variety actress, returned to her home at 128 Cain street last night. Miss Nielsen disappeared suddenly Monday evening while walking with her mother and father. No word was received from the girl that night or Tuesday, and yesterday the police were called on to aid in finding her. Detectives Douglas and Fitzgerald, after inquiry, learned that Miss Nielsen and a Miss Gladys Watson had been seen together in this city and that they spent yesterday at a hotel in Oakland.

Miss Nielsen, after returning home, declared that she had left of her own volition, and ridiculed the story that Joseph Barby, a barber, had been responsible for or connected with her disappearance. She was questioned by the detectives and accounted to them for his time since Monday night. For a time the family believed the girl had been kidnapped by so-called "white slavers," as she had received cryptic messages from Los Angeles warning her to beware of white slave traffickers.

MUST ANSWER TO CHARGE. SAN JOSE, Nov. 30. — C. Hayes, formerly president of the Young Men's Christian Association and prominent in church affairs, charged with falsifying the books of the Chambers-Hayes Hardware company in the trading of the business to A. C. Thomas and others for real estate and other considerations, was held to answer in the superior court yesterday before Judge Wallace.

CHINESE PLEAD GUILTY. BERKELEY, Nov. 30. — Five Chinese who were arrested on Monday night and charged with having opium in their possession, pleaded guilty yesterday in Justice of the Peace Robert Edgier's court and will be sentenced tomorrow afternoon.

WASHINGTON OBSERVED SPIRIT. Coming down to modern times, we notice in that first thanksgiving proclamation by the father of his country, that Washington recognized the religious spirit of the day set apart for thanksgiving. He said: "For blessings national and individual, it is our duty as a people, with devout reverence and affectionate gratitude to acknowledge our many great obligations to Almighty God, and implore Him to continue and confirm the blessings we experience."

The spirit of the day in those times was certainly religious. Second, the spirit of Thanksgiving day is a patriotic spirit.

REAL PATRIOTISM STRONG. Perhaps it was more so in the early days of our history than at present, but probably real patriotism has not declined.

If Old Glory were to be insulted, there are millions of noble souls who would resent it even unto death. If necessary, But third, the spirit of this day is also a festive spirit.

The oldest inhabitant cannot remember the time when Thanksgiving day was not a day for the home-coming of the distant members of the family, when Dulce domum, Sweet Home, was not the keynote of their song.

This is the day to put out of sight and sound so far as possible every cause of gloom and sadness; to bring to the fore every occasion for rejoicing and gratitude. It is a time to forgive all who have offended us, to declare old enmities, to look about for somebody to help and comfort, to bind more closely the ties of friendship and to take time to give special thought concerning the infinite goodness of our divine benefactor."

It is a set time for family gatherings in the home and around the table, a time for renewed and vigorous attacks upon turkey.

Thanksgiving has a different atmosphere about it from all other festivals. In its best spirit it is the tribute of individual hearts to God, but it takes into consideration the home, the state and the nation.

With joyful lips and glad hearts, and devout ascriptions of praise to our Father in heaven we say, all hail Thanksgiving day, November thirty, nineteen hundred and eleven.

Illness of Champion Ad Wolgast Sets Fighting Game All Up in Air for Time Being

AD WOLGAST RESTING EASY
AFTER SIEGE UNDER KNIFE
Champion Lightweight Passes Ordeal
Gamely, but Will Be Unable to Fill
Engagement in South

Appendicitis put an end to the hopes of Ad Wolgast at Los Angeles yesterday, and his battle in defense of the lightweight title as champion of the world will not take place.

On the eve of what might have been the greatest event in the career of the sterling little boxer he was stricken with the unfortunate illness and today he lies in a hospital at Los Angeles battling hard and determinedly for life.

The sudden stricken of Wolgast has upset the entire fighting game for it will be fully a year before he will be able to again don a mitt and perhaps never, for appendicitis generally leaves a man pretty weak for a long time.

His illness came suddenly. Wolgast retired Tuesday evening after partaking of a hearty supper feeling as he expressed it: "Never better in all my life." With Wolgast went Hobo Dougherty and his manager, Tom Jones, and everything was serene. It was about 9 o'clock when the camp went to bed and at 4 o'clock in the morning the fighter was in the hospital ready for the knife.

WOLGAST CALLS FOR DOUGHERTY. "At 2 o'clock," said Dougherty, "I was awakened by Ad calling me. I jumped up and going to his bed he told me he was in great pain. I thought it was simply nervousness, due to hard training, and possibly some worry over his coming battle with Welsh. I tried to comfort him, but in half an hour he began to grow worse and I called Jones. At 3 o'clock we decided to call a doctor and see what the trouble was. Jones hurriedly called Dr. Pollard and the doctor came at once. He examined Ad as soon as he saw Ad he said: 'It's appendicitis.'"

"That took the wind out of Jones and myself. We asked the doctor what to do and he said to bundle Wolgast up and put him in his (Pollard's) automobile and that he would do the rest. As he did so and at 4 o'clock Ad was in the hospital."

WELSH WAS THUNDERSTRUCK. Manager Jones, as soon as his protégé had been safely placed in a ward at the hospital, started for Venice to get the automobile for Mrs. Wolgast and Mrs. Jones. He stopped on the way at Freddie Welsh's training camp and, awakening the English fighter, told him the news. For a moment Welsh was dazed. Then he said:

"Well, that's too bad. I certainly hope Ad gets out of this. I don't care so much for the financial loss as I do for Ad. We were always good friends."

On arriving at the hospital, Mrs. Wolgast was taken at once to her husband's room, where she remained until 8 o'clock, when the surgeons announced that they desired all to retire. Dr. Pollard had called in consultation Doctors Barton and Sherrard. It was decided to operate, and that an operation was the only thing that could save Wolgast's life, and that, if performed immediately, the patient would assuredly make a speedy recovery because of his fine physical condition and power of resistance.

Manager Jones was at once called into conference by the surgeons and acquainted with their decision. He said he was satisfied that he knew more about it than he did, but that he would go and see what Wolgast thought about the operation.

CHAMPION SHOWS GAMENESS. "All right, Tom," the champion replied to his manager, when told of the decision of the surgeons, "all right, I'll go through it, but Tom, none of that going stuff for me. Just tell them to strap me down tight and then go to it. I can stand it. I don't want any of that sleep stuff."

Jones' eyes were wet when he came out of the room where the little Spartan-nerved champion lay in fearful pain. He said the doctors said his champion was willing, but made no mention of the "sleep stuff."

Immediately preparations were made for the operation. Wolgast was taken over to the nurses and others and made ready for the operating table.

It was just 9:30 a. m. when a white-capped nurse gently placed a sponge upon the champion's nostrils and it was ten minutes before the door to the operating room was again opened.

WHICH WILL IT BE? This afternoon while lots of us are tearing into the family turkey, if we are able to look back on the fight between Ad Wolgast and Freddie Welsh, we will find that the fight was a very close one. Farland will be sitting in the circle telling the future to aspirants for the lightweight crown.

Two newspapers battle over the bout; at least that is what it is scheduled to go, and both are confident of being returned to their proper place.

The sudden illness of Wolgast puts the fight game in a bad way. As to what will happen next, no one seems to know. Promoters and fighters are very much up in the air as to the future, and there will probably be several days before they can get a good line on the matter. One thing is sure—the services of Packey McFarland will be very much in demand in the fight game.

From the way things look at present McFarland may return to the East very early. The offer to fight came from Jim Hurst of a guarantee of $7500 to Packey for a ten-round, no-decision match with Gil Boyer, who has been bettered by Gil Boyer in his last fight. The offer of $3500, with a third of the moving pictures. This looks good to Thiry, who is the boxing promoter, and all other negotiations are dropped.

Tom O'Day had a long talk with McFarland over the long distance telephone from Los Angeles yesterday afternoon, en route to meeting Freddie Welsh in San Francisco.

Willie Ritchie, Frankie Edwards and Brick Burgess

The former is battling Freddie Welsh in the south in place of Ad. Wolgast, while Edwards and Burgess are two of the principals on the card of the West Oakland Club, which will hold a show December 6th.

McFarland's Sparring Partner to Box Welsh for McCarey
This Afternoon.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—Immediately upon being notified of Wolgast's condition yesterday morning, Manager McCarey of the Vernon Athletic Club called off the proposed fight between Wolgast and Welsh, and announced that all of those who wished their money back could get it. He stated, however, that he would have an opponent for Welsh, and that the card would be taken care of by him, with the exception of Wolgast's presence.

Later last night McCarey announced he had secured Willie Ritchie, training partner for Packey McFarland, to meet Welsh, and that Ritchie had already left San Francisco for Los Angeles. Ritchie is said to be in fine condition from his long training with McFarland.

Freddie Welsh quickly agreed to this change of plan, and announced that as long as Wolgast was ill, he himself would defend the lightweight title.

SAMMY KELLER HAS STREAK OF ILL LUCK

Little Sammy Keller, the English featherweight, who came to this country to win an even dozen and boxed a number of engagements in Los Angeles, has been stricken with appendicitis and it will be several months before he is again able to enter the ring. He had been matched to box Sid Smith on December 4 for the fly-weight championship of England, but the Lord Londale belt was taken down with appendicitis and had to be operated upon. He will not appear in the ring for many months.

BOSTON AMERICANS TO TRAIN AT HOT SPRINGS

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Robert McRoy, secretary of the American League, arrived in Chicago last night from Hot Springs, Ark., where he went to make arrangements for the spring training of the Boston American League team, of which he is now a part owner.

Another announcement of McRoy was that his duties as secretary of the American League will cease at the close of the league meeting in New York in December.

MCGRAW SAYS RUCKER IS BEST PITCHER

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Johnny McGraw, a leader of the Giants, is credited with saying that he believed Nap Rucker, Brooklyn's sensational pitcher, was the best heaver the game has known. Rucker has pitched remarkable ball and has been particularly effective against Chicago and New York. He seems to do his best when he is pitching against strong teams.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL
TEAMS ARE IN SHAPE

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The intercollegiate basketball season will begin tomorrow night, when Columbia plays the first game on its schedule with the University of Maryland. Columbia has held the intercollegiate championship for three years, but does not seem to have as strong a team this year. Only two veterans are left from last year's squad.

J. E. Parker, 2021 No. Tenth street, St. Smith, Ark., says that he had taken many kinds of kidney medicine, but did not get better until he took Foley Kidney Pills. He says that he has had kidney trouble, you will find quick and permanent relief by the use of Foley Kidney Pills. Start taking them now. Write to drug store, 10th and Washington streets.

RACING WILL BE IN FULL SWING AT JUAREZ
TRACK

Mexican Course Will Begin
Annual Meet Today With High Class Card.

JUAREZ, Mex., Nov. 30.—Everything is ready for the third annual meeting of the Ciudad Juarez Jockey Club. The large number of outsiders present, and which far eclipses that of former seasons, a track in first-class condition, an open betting ring and a general air of prosperity in and around the city of 25,000 people, all augur well that the meeting will far surpass anything ever seen here before. The uncertainty of the game in all other quarters is a sure factor in bringing turf followers here for the first time.

The card prepared by Secretary Jasper for the opening day is an excellent one, and class is well represented in every race. This is a point where the horses from the East and South get those that campaigned in the Northwest all summer, and there is considerable rivalry between the three factors. While the balance of class is in favor of the Kentucky brigade, the Westerners are expected to more than hold their own.

Over fifteen, some of them the largest operators in the country, are on hand and ready to cut in tomorrow. Each train arriving brings a number of new faces, and it is estimated that close to 1000 turf followers are already here.

YANKEE BOXER PUTS
BRITISHER TO SLEEP

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 30.—"Jimmy" Clabby, the American middleweight, who is boxing champion of Australia, today defeated the Britisher in a 10-round bout. Clabby led in every round.

RAY BRONSON BRINGS
HOME SLEEP MAKER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 30.—Ray Bronson of this city, leading in the round after the first, won handsily from Tommy Howell of Philadelphia in 10 rounds last night. After the fight, in which no damage was done by either, Bronson started in and landed freely.

ALAMEDA-WOODLAND
GAME IS CALLED OFF

ALAMEDA, Nov. 30.—The football game that was scheduled to be played at Woodland today between Alameda and Woodland High Schools has been called off because arrangements satisfactory to the managers of the Alameda team could not be made.

VALLEJO BOOMS BASKET BALL. VALLEJO, Nov. 30.—Basket ball has come to stay in Vallejo, and with eight teams now in the running for the championship of the city it is announced that a league will be organized some time this week. Among the organizations likely to land berths in the new organization are the Vallejo High School, St. Vincent's School, the Y. M. C. A., M. L. Samoset Tribe, I. O. R. M. and Dan-nebiums.

KNOTT UNDER X-RAY. Knott, the shortstop from the Glarions, who was injured by a line drive for next year, is undergoing treatment for a bad thumb. An X-ray was used the other day to see what was the matter with the joint, and the physicians think it will be possible to cure the youngster so that he will be in shape for next spring.

BRANNING LOSSES TO KILBANE. YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 30.—Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland defeated Patsy Brannigan of Pittsburgh in their ten-round battle last night before a crowd of 3000 fans in the arena of the Steel City Athletic Club.

RACING AT COLUMBIA, S. C. COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 30.—Today the initial winter meet of the Columbia Racing association will open in this city for 30 days. The Thanksgiving handicap, at three-quarters of a mile, is expected to prove the feature event.

ONE ROUND ENOUGH. DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 30.—A round and a half was all that Spike Kelly of Chicago needed to finish Peter Shaughnessy of Tulsa, Okla., at the Windsor Athletic Club last night.

ANOTHER "HOPE" IS DOWN AND OUT OF RACE

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Tom Kennedy outpointed Al Palmer in a slashing ten-round bout here last night. Both men are local "white hopes." Kennedy easily had the earlier rounds on points, but Palmer, with his rushing, tired Kennedy.

Kennedy was plainly in distress in the fifth round from the pounding his kidneys and stomach received, but he recuperated and outboxed Palmer until the tenth round.

In this round Palmer rushed at the bell to try for a knockout, but Kennedy carried the fight to him, and with a hard right hook to the head, followed by a left swing to the jaw and right to the pit of the stomach, caused Palmer to cover up.

ED. PETROSKY ISSUES
DEFI TO FRITZIE
HOLLAND

Sailor Ed Petroskey, the pride of the navy and one of the best middleweights on the coast, is very anxious to get a chance at Fritz Holland. The sailors on Uncle Sam's ships are also strong for Holland to give their champion a chance. Petroskey and Holland fought a four round draw several months ago, and though the sailor has been looking for a return match since then, Holland seems to be passing him up. Petroskey, according to the sailors, never has lost a fight.

VANDERBILT LEAVES FOR 'TIGHT LITTLE ISLE'

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt sailed for England yesterday on the Lusitania and will remain abroad until the new butler that will accommodate the horse show of 1912 is ready for occupancy. He denied reports that he is soon to be wed.

Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, United States Navy, sailed to attend a birthday party in Tynburg, Germany, where his father, who is 89 years of age, resides. Arnold Bennett, the English novelist; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lander, Ivan Caryll, the composer; W. K. Vanderbilt Jr., Norma Whitley, Mr. and Mrs. James Forbes and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Selwyn were among the passengers who were aboard.

AFTER GOVERNOR'S JOB.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 30.—Chairman J. C. Lawrence of the public service commission has handed his resignation to Governor Ray, to take effect on or before January 1, 1912. It is rumored Lawrence plans to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor against Governor Ray, under whom he has held office for the past three years.

VERY NICE, FREDDIE
BUT THERE ARE MANY OTHERS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—I am willing and ready to defend the world's lightweight title until such time as Ad Wolgast will have sufficiently recovered his health to assume this responsibility.

I do not wish to pose as a "claim jumper," nor to have my actions misconstrued as those of a boxer wishing to take advantage of another man's misfortune.

Facts are facts. Wolgast probably will not be able to return to the ring for a year. I am respected as the one 133-pound challenger in the world who stands next to Wolgast. As such I deem it my privilege and duty to step in and defend the lightweight championship during Wolgast's enforced leave of absence.

OH MERCY WHAT D'YE
THINK OF A BOUT
LIKE THIS

Charley Miller, the giant motorman, and Gunboat Smith, the former sailor, will meet for the third time in a 20 round bout at Coalinga on the evening of December 16. Miller, who made a very creditable showing against Jim Barry, a week ago, intends to blossom out for bigger game if he can decisively defeat the Gunboat. He is being handled and trained by Louis Perente and has shown great improvement since the latter took him in hand.

Miller holds a four round decision over Smith, who, in turn, managed to knock Miller out in two rounds.

12-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLED.
SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 30.—While conveying a Thanksgiving dinner to a poor family in the east end of the city, an auto in which were Frank Chase and two women assisting him in charitable work, struck and killed Donald Main, a 12-year-old boy. The lad ran from the sidewalk directly in front of the machine, apparently to jump on a passing wagon for a ride home.

DEPOSITORS REAP LARGE DIVIDEND

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 30.—Alden Anderson, who took over the assets of the Bank of Shasta county a short time ago, was in this city yesterday when notified that Superintendent of Banks Williams is now ready to permit him to pay a dividend of 15% to the depositors and creditors of that bank.

Anderson stated that as soon as the formal notice reaches Redding he will notify Williams of his waiver of ten days' time in which to file claims, and checks can then be issued to all the creditors to be cashed at Anderson's Redding bank. The amount to be disbursed is more than $450,000.

Anderson's taking over of the Bank of Shasta and opening of the new National bank has saved the depositors a vast amount of money, as the amount that could be saved from the wreck was at first estimated at only a small part of what this first dividend will be.

TO REVIVE DRAMATIC SECTION OF THE OAKLAND TURN VEREIN

The members of the dramatic section of the Oakland Turn Verein are rehearsing almost daily for the play which they will give at Germania hall Sunday evening, December 2. The play, a one-act comedy entitled, "One Must Marry," was written by E. Uhde, and it is to be produced under the direction of R. L. Lenz, who has undertaken the work of reviving the activity of the Turn Verein dramatic section.

Although there is a man in the case, there is none in the cast. Lenz, having secured the assistance of four young women of Oakland, who it is thought will prove in every way equal to the occasion. The cast follows:

Anabella Werdenberg, Mrs. Alvine Selmer
Anabella Werdenberg, Miss Adelheid Radtke
Claudine Sternheim, Mrs. Julia Hess
Susanne, Miss Martha Ries

HERE'S DR. WILEY'S THANKSGIVING MEAL

Turkey's All Right, Says Pure Food Expert, So We May Be Thankful.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—"The kind of Thanksgiving dinner of which I do not approve," said Dr. Harvey Wiley, the pure food expert, last night, is a dinner with soup, fish, entree, turkey, vegetables of several kinds, an expensive salad, nuts, candies, coffee and two or three kinds of light wines—the regulation course dinner. There is no cause for thanksgiving in such a dinner and there will probably be much indigestion.

"My ideal Thanksgiving dinner," continued Dr. Wiley with a smile of anticipation, "is first of all a big turkey roasted to the proper degree of brownness, stuffed with oysters or chestnuts and juicy all through. It should be well seasoned and dried. With these dishes should come celery blanched in proper white sauce by being laid away in a dark place, and luscious cranberries made into jelly or stewed as our grandmothers did them. Potatoes of course, and other vegetables. Too much variety, however, spoils a good dinner."

NO "KIVER" ON THE PIE.

"For dessert," said the doctor, slowly and with evident appreciation, "pumpkin pie without a 'kiver'—a very large, thick piece for every diner. You may have mince if you wish to be sure of the ingredients, but to my mind pumpkin pie should satisfy any man."

"And," said Dr. Wiley, without a smile, "a glass of good pure water will be the crowning glory of this dinner, but if something must be furnished in the liquor line, let it be good, old and mellow and as non-intoxicating as possible."

"Everybody should eat turkey on Thanksgiving day. It is a matter of epicurean duty as well as patriotic sentiment. Turkey is good, healthy food if properly prepared, and it should not cost over 25 cents a pound."

ALL YOU WANT FOR 50 CENTS.

"At 25 cents a pound for the turkey, a family of 12 could have a Thanksgiving dinner of turkey, celery, cranberries, vegetables and pie, made of pure ingredients, for 25 cents each. This is allowing a half pound of turkey to each diner. Should they have better appetites and a little more of this world's goods, the same 12 could have a pound of turkey each, celery, cranberries, and a few several varieties of vegetables and pie for 50 cents each, or $5 for the entire dinner."

When the high cost of living was called to the attention of the doctor, he smiled and said:

"Well, a good managing housewife knows how to get around even the cost of living, high as it is."

GROSS DECEPTION CHARGED BY WIFE

Seeks Divorce Because Husband Fooled Her About Children and Home.

Accusing her husband of deception, Fanny Dawson brought suit in the Superior Court late yesterday afternoon for a divorce from Thomas Dawson, on the ground of extreme cruelty. The wife alleges that when Dawson asked her to be his wife in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1907, he represented to her that he had a home in Los Angeles, with every convenience, and "a few" children by his deceased wife.

When she arrived in Los Angeles, the complaint sets forth, Mrs. Dawson found that her husband's children numbered ten, that the wife was a stranger in a structure with ragged carpets and old worn furniture and that nothing was in keeping with the representative "few" which Dawson prevailed upon her to become Mrs. Dawson No. 2.

As soon as she was settled in the city of the angels, according to the complaint, Dawson gave her $5 and disappeared, leaving his numerous children to her unaided care for several months.

For four years, Mrs. Dawson declares, she toiled for her stepchildren and got absolutely nothing for her labors but a 50-cent dress and impaired health.

STAMM LEAVES BULK OF ESTATE TO WIDOW

MARTINEZ, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Mary Stamm, widow of the late Ferdinand Stamm of Antioch, who died here recently, has filed the will of her husband for probate and was named as executor. The whole estate, with the exception of $500 in cash, which is given to the son, Ferdinand Stamm, Jr., and valued at about $10,000, is bequeathed to the widow.

It is not alone the convenience, or the freshness, or the crispness, or the unusual food-value, or the digestibility, or the cleanliness, or the price, that has made Uneeda Biscuit the National Soda Cracker.

It is the remarkable combination of all of these things.

If everyone, everywhere, knew how good they are, everyone, everywhere, would eat them—every day.

Sold by grocers in every city and town—Bought by people of all classes.

Never sold in bulk—always 5 cents in the moisture-proof package which keeps them oven-fresh.

All of them are our own special make, having been tailored from special materials in our own factory. In many instances we have taken short ends of materials previously used in $25.00 and $30.00 suits and have made them up into the most favored of the plain, tailored models for this particular event.

In other cases we have taken from our $20.00, $25.00 and $30.00 lines single garments of a size or color and have included them in this special offering.

Among the cloths will be found fine chevrons and English suitings in grays, browns, tans, etc., wide wale diagonals in the popular solid colorings, fine French broadcloths in an exceptional color range in which all the popular street shades are represented.

$12.50

In addition to these there is a liberal sprinkling of novelty weaves in solid colorings in which the wistaria, blues and green predominate—all of them are beautifully lined, all of them are excellently tailored; and there is not a bad model in the entire collection.

Sizes run from 32 to 44 for women and in 14, 16 and 18 sizes for misses.

All of these on sale tomorrow at one price—$12.50.
